EC-COUNCIL EC Council Certified Incident Handler (ECIH v3) Sample Questions (Q56-Q61):

NEW QUESTION # 56

Francis received a spoof email asking for his bank information. He decided to use a tool to analyze the email headers. Which of the following should he use?

- A. EventLog Analyzer
- B. MxToolbox
- C. PoliteMail
- D. Email Checker

Answer: B

Explanation:

MxToolbox is a comprehensive tool designed for analyzing email headers and diagnosing various email delivery issues. When Francis received a spoofed email asking for his bank information, using MxToolbox to analyze the email headers would be appropriate. This tool helps in examining the source of the email, tracking the email's path across the internet from the sender to the receiver, and identifying any signs of email spoofing or malicious activity. It provides detailed information about the email servers encountered along the way and can help in verifying the authenticity of the email sender. Other options like EventLog Analyzer, Email Checker, and PoliteMail are tools used for different purposes such as analyzing system event logs, checking email address validity, and managing email communications, respectively, and do not specifically focus on analyzing email headers to the extent required for investigating a spoofed email incident.

References: The use of MxToolbox in incident handling and email security analysis is commonly recommended in Incident Handler (ECIH v3) study materials as a practical tool for email header analysis and spoofing investigation.

NEW QUESTION # 57

An audit trail policy collects all audit trails such as series of records of computer events, about an operating system, application or user activities. Which of the following statements is NOT true for an audit trail policy:

- D. It is Subjective but faster than Qualitative Risk Analysis

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 59

Which of the following processes is referred to as an approach to respond to the security incidents that occurred in an organization and enables the response team by ensuring that they know exactly what process to follow in case of security incidents?

- A. Vulnerability management
- B. Threat assessment
- C. Incident response orchestration
- D. Risk assessment

Answer: C

Explanation:

Incident response orchestration refers to the process and technologies used to coordinate and streamline the response to security incidents. This approach ensures that incident response teams have clear procedures and workflows to follow, enabling them to act swiftly and effectively when dealing with security incidents. By orchestrating the response, organizations can minimize the impact of incidents, ensure consistent and thorough investigation and remediation activities, and improve their overall security posture. Incident response orchestration involves integrating various security tools, automating response actions where possible, and providing a centralized platform for managing incidents.

References: The concept of incident response orchestration and its role in enhancing the effectiveness of incident handling and response efforts is discussed in cybersecurity literature and training, including ECIH v3 study materials, which highlight the benefits of having a structured and organized approach to managing security incidents.
