EXIN Certified Data Centre Professional (CDCP) Sample Questions (Q87-Q92):

NEW QUESTION # 87

The termination of the ability of a product to perform its required function can be defined as.

- A. Hindrance
- B. Termination
- C. Failure
- D. Obstacle

Answer: C

Explanation:

According to the EPI Data Centre Professional (CDCP®) Preparation Guide, failure is defined as "the termination of the ability of a product to perform its required function" (page 9). Failure can occur due to various reasons, such as wear and tear, design flaws, human errors, environmental factors, or external events.

Failure can affect the availability, reliability, and performance of a product, system, or service.

NEW QUESTION # 88

Which source is used in fiber cable to transmit data?

- A. Signals
- B. Pulse
- C. Light
- D. Electric

Answer: C

Explanation:

Fiber-optic cables use light as the source to transmit data. Light pulses are modulated to carry information through an optical fiber. The light is confined in the core of the fiber by total internal reflection at the core-cladding interface. The light travels along the fiber with minimal loss or interference, making it suitable for long-distance and high-bandwidth applications.

NEW QUESTION # 89

What is the main difference between an Environmental Monitoring System (EMS) and a Building Management System (BMS)?

- A. A BMS only operates as a stand-alone system. An EMS can be configured as a redundant system.
- B. An EMS provides local alarms. A BMS provides both local and remote alarms.
- C. A BMS is only able to monitor dry contacts (on/off). An EMS can also monitor analog values.
- D. An EMS monitors only. A BMS monitors and controls.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The main difference between an Environmental Monitoring System (EMS) and a Building Management System (BMS) is that an EMS monitors only, while a BMS monitors and controls. An EMS is a system that collects and records data from various sensors and devices that measure environmental parameters, such as temperature, humidity, air quality, power, and water. An EMS provides alerts and reports based on the data, but it does not control or adjust the environmental conditions. A BMS is a system that integrates and manages various building systems, such as HVAC, lighting, security, fire, and access. A BMS not only monitors the data from these systems, but also controls and optimizes them to achieve the desired performance and efficiency. A BMS can also communicate with an EMS to receive data and provide feedback.

NEW QUESTION # 90

What is the effect of a high relative humidity in the data centre?

- A. There is a risk of corrosion.
- B. In a data centre environment relative humidity is not important, only temperature matters.
- C. There is a risk of electrostatic discharge.
- D. There is a risk of not properly functioning of the smoke detectors.

Answer: A

Explanation:

High relative humidity in a data center can lead to corrosion of metal parts and electronic contacts, potentially causing failures.

Electrostatic discharge is a risk with low humidity, not high.

NEW QUESTION # 91

Which one of the following is an Objective of Data Center Fire Protection?

- A. Suppression
- B. Representation
- C. Information
- D. Depression

Answer: A

Explanation:

The objective of data center fire protection is to suppress or extinguish a fire before it can cause significant damage to the equipment, personnel, or business continuity. Fire suppression systems are designed to reduce the heat, oxygen, or fuel elements of the fire triangle, and to limit the spread of fire and smoke. Fire suppression systems can be classified into two types: water-based and gas-based. Water-based systems include sprinklers, mist, and water spray systems, which use water as the extinguishing agent. Gas-based systems include inert gas, halocarbon, and clean agent systems, which use gases or chemicals as the extinguishing agent. The choice of fire suppression system depends on several factors, such as the fire risk, the type of fuel, the environmental impact, the reliability, the cost, and the compatibility with the data center equipment and operations.
