NEW QUESTION # 166

Where are handlebar Templates defined in the Cloudcraze managed package?

- A. uiProperties file
- B. Configuration Setting configuration
- C. Page Settings configuration
- D. cc_hk_UserInterface extension

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

Handlebar Templates are defined in the uiProperties file in the cloudcraze managed package. This file contains various properties that control the behavior and appearance of the user interface components. The handlebarTemplates property defines a map of template names and template contents that are used by the handlebars.js templating engine to generate HTML from JSON data. NEW QUESTION # 167

What are three advantages of using ccLog over the Salesforce standard System.debug class? (3 answers)

- A. There is no need to create a User Trace Flag.
- B. Append #ccLog=<Logging Token Name> to the end of the storefront URL in order to get logs in the inspector console.
- C. There is no need to manually set a cookie to debug with the Site Guest User.
- D. There is no need to use string concatenation to easily tag log statements with a subject.
- E. ccLog can debug syntax errors found in the JavaScript.

Answer: B,C,D

Explanation:

Explanation

Three advantages of using ccLog over the Salesforce standard System.debug class are:

* There is no need to use string concatenation to easily tag log statements with a subject. ccLog allows passing a subject parameter to the log method, which will prepend the subject to the log message. For example, ccLog.log('This is a message', 'Subject') will log [Subject] This is a message.

* There is no need to create a User Trace Flag. ccLog can be enabled by setting the value of CO.logToken to true in CCAdmin, which will activate logging for all users who access the storefront.

* There is no need to manually set a cookie to debug with the Site Guest User. ccLog can be enabled for the Site Guest User by appending #ccLog=<Logging Token Name> to the end of the storefront URL in order to get logs in the inspector console. For example, https://my-storefront.com/#ccLog=debug will enable logging for the Site Guest User with the debug level. Salesforce

NEW QUESTION # 168

How is a price group dynamically set?

- A. By extending the cc_hk_pricing hook
- B. By extending the ccApiPriceList API
- C. By using contract pricing
- D. By overriding the ccLogicProductPrice class

Answer: A

Explanation:

A price group can be dynamically set by extending the cc_hk_pricing hook. This hook allows modifying the price group based on various factors, such as the user, cart, product, or storefront. For example, the hook can apply a different price group for a specific product category or for a specific user segment.

NEW QUESTION # 169

Which two log levels does a developer need to include to debug platform events?

- A. Workflow
- B. Callout
- C. Database
- D. Apex Code

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

According to the Platform Events Developer Guide, to debug platform events, a developer needs to include the Apex Code and Workflow log levels in the trace flag entry for the Automated Process entity or the overridden user. The Apex Code log level captures the execution of the Apex trigger that subscribes to the platform event. The Workflow log level captures the execution of the event process or the resumed flow interview that subscribes to the platform event. The other log levels are not relevant for debugging platform events. The Database log level captures database operations, such as DML statements and SOQL queries. The Callout log level captures the details of HTTP requests and responses, such as web service callouts. NEW QUESTION # 170

A user wants to have a Contact Us page in the storefront. This page will be a web-to-lead form and it should have the header and footer, essentially the same look and feel as all the pages in the application. How can this requirement be fulfilled?

- A. Subscriber Template
- B. Body Include Begin
- C. Page Include
- D. Subscriber Page (CC Page)

Answer: D

Explanation:

To have a Contact Us page in the storefront that is a web-to-lead form and has the same look and feel as all the pages in the application, the requirement can be fulfilled by creating a Subscriber Page (CC Page). This is a custom Visualforce page that can be added to the storefront and use the standard header and footer components. The page can also include a web-to-lead form that submits data to Salesforce as leads. Salesforce References: B2B Commerce and D2C Commerce Developer Guide, Subscriber Pages
