Google Cloud Associate Data Practitioner Sample Questions (Q95-Q100):

NEW QUESTION # 95

You need to design a data pipeline to process large volumes of raw server log data stored in Cloud Storage. The data needs to be cleaned, transformed, and aggregated before being loaded into BigQuery for analysis. The transformation involves complex data manipulation using Spark scripts that your team developed. You need to implement a solution that leverages your team's existing skillset, processes data at scale, and minimizes cost. What should you do?

- A. Use Cloud Data Fusion to visually design and manage the pipeline.
- B. Use Dataproc to run the transformations on a cluster.
- C. Use Dataflow with a custom template for the transformation logic.
- D. Use Dataform to define the transformations in SQLX.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed In-Depth Explanation:

The pipeline must handle large-scale log processing with existing Spark scripts, prioritizing skillset reuse, scalability, and cost. Let's break it down:

* Option A: Dataflow uses Apache Beam, not Spark, requiring script rewrites (losing skillset leverage).

Custom templates scale well but increase development cost and effort.

* Option B: Cloud Data Fusion is a visual ETL tool, not Spark-based. It doesn't reuse existing scripts, requiring redesign, and is less cost-efficient for complex, code-driven transformations.

* Option C: Dataform uses SQLX for BigQuery ELT, not Spark. It's unsuitable for pre-load transformations of raw logs and doesn't leverage Spark skills.

NEW QUESTION # 96

Your organization plans to move their on-premises environment to Google Cloud. Your organization's network bandwidth is less than 1 Gbps. You need to move over 500 TB of data to Cloud Storage securely, and only have a few days to move the data. What should you do?

- A. Connect to Google Cloud using VPN. Use Storage Transfer Service to move the data to Cloud Storage.
- B. Request multiple Transfer Appliances, copy the data to the appliances, and ship the appliances back to Google Cloud to upload the data to Cloud Storage.
- C. Connect to Google Cloud using Dedicated Interconnect. Use the `gcloud storage` command to move the data to Cloud Storage.
- D. Connect to Google Cloud using VPN. Use the `gcloud storage` command to move the data to Cloud Storage.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Using Transfer Appliances is the best solution for securely and efficiently moving over 500 TB of data to Cloud Storage within a limited timeframe, especially with network bandwidth below 1 Gbps. Transfer Appliances are physical devices provided by Google Cloud to securely transfer large amounts of data. After copying the data to the appliances, they are shipped back to Google, where the data is uploaded to Cloud Storage. This approach bypasses bandwidth limitations and ensures the data is migrated quickly and securely.

NEW QUESTION # 97

Your company stores historical data in Cloud Storage. You need to ensure that all data is saved in a bucket for at least three years. What should you do?

- A. Set temporary object holds.
- B. Set a bucket retention policy.
- C. Enable Object Versioning.
- D. Change the bucket storage class to Archive.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed in Depth Explanation:

Why C is correct: Bucket retention policies are specifically designed to enforce a minimum retention period for objects within a Cloud Storage bucket. This ensures that data cannot be deleted or overwritten before the specified period.

Why other options are incorrect: A: Object versioning allows you to keep multiple versions of an object, but it doesn't guarantee a minimum retention period.

B: Changing the storage class to Archive is for cost optimization, not data retention enforcement.

D: Object holds are for legal holds, not general retention.

NEW QUESTION # 98

You manage a Cloud Storage bucket that stores temporary files created during data processing. These temporary files are only needed for seven days, after which they are no longer needed. To reduce storage costs and keep your bucket organized, you want to automatically delete these files once they are older than seven days. What should you do?

- A. Set up a Cloud Scheduler job that invokes a weekly Cloud Run function to delete files older than seven days.
- B. Configure a Cloud Storage lifecycle rule that automatically deletes objects older than seven days.
- C. Develop a batch process using Dataflow that runs weekly and deletes files based on their age.
- D. Create a Cloud Run function that runs daily and deletes files older than seven days.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Configuring a Cloud Storage lifecycle rule to automatically delete objects older than seven days is the best solution because:

Built-in feature: Cloud Storage lifecycle rules are specifically designed to manage object lifecycles, such as automatically deleting or transitioning objects based on age.

No additional setup: It requires no external services or custom code, reducing complexity and maintenance.

Cost-effective: It directly achieves the goal of deleting files after seven days without incurring additional compute costs.

NEW QUESTION # 99

Your organization consists of two hundred employees on five different teams. The leadership team is concerned that any employee can move or delete all Looker dashboards saved in the Shared folder. You need to create an easy-to-manage solution that allows the five different teams in your organization to view content in the Shared folder, but only be able to move or delete their team-specific dashboard. What should you do?

- A. 1. Change the access level of the Shared folder to View for the All Users group. 2. Create Looker groups representing each of the five different teams, and add users to their corresponding group. 3. Create five subfolders inside the Shared folder. Grant each group the Manage Access, Edit access level to their corresponding subfolder.
- B. 1. Change the access level of the Shared folder to View for the All Users group. 2. Create five subfolders inside the Shared folder. Grant each team member the Manage Access, Edit access level to their corresponding subfolder.
- C. 1. Create Looker groups representing each of the five different teams, and add users to their corresponding group. 2. Create five subfolders inside the Shared folder. Grant each group the View access level to their corresponding subfolder.
- D. 1. Move all team-specific content into the dashboard owner's personal folder. 2. Change the access level of the Shared folder to View for the All Users group. 3. Instruct each user to create content for their team in the user's personal folder.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Comprehensive and Detailed in Depth Explanation:

Why C is correct: Setting the Shared folder to "View" ensures everyone can see the content.

Creating Looker groups simplifies access management.

Subfolders allow granular permissions for each team.

Granting "Manage Access, Edit" allows teams to modify only their own content.
Why other options are incorrect:A: Grants View access only, so teams can't edit.
B: Moving content to personal folders defeats the purpose of sharing.
D: Grants edit access to all members of the team, not the team as a whole, which is not ideal.
