NEW QUESTION # 11

Which of the following is not a component of risk management?

- A. Risk assessment.
- B. Risk identification.
- C. Risk monitoring.
- D. Risk elimination.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Risk elimination is not a component of risk management. Risk management involves identifying, assessing, and mitigating risks, as well as monitoring and reviewing the effectiveness of risk controls. While it is ideal to eliminate risks entirely, it is not always feasible, and the focus is often on minimizing or mitigating risks rather than eliminating them completely.

NEW QUESTION # 12

Which of the following activities is typically associated with reconnaissance in cybersecurity?

- A. Exploiting vulnerabilities
- B. Identifying vulnerable systems
- C. Gathering information about the target network
- D. Preventing unauthorized access

Answer: C

Explanation:

Reconnaissance in cybersecurity involves gathering information about the target network, such as IP addresses, open ports, and potential vulnerabilities. This information is used to prepare for a potential attack by understanding the target's infrastructure and weaknesses.

NEW QUESTION # 13

Why is it important to maintain the chain of custody when handling digital evidence?

- A. To accelerate the analysis of the evidence.
- B. To ensure the evidence is stored securely.
- C. To prevent unauthorized access or tampering.
- D. To recover lost or deleted data from the evidence.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Maintaining the chain of custody is crucial to ensure the integrity and admissibility of digital evidence in a legal case. It helps establish that the evidence has not been tampered with or accessed by unauthorized individuals, which ensures its reliability and credibility. By maintaining a strict chain of custody, any potential challenges to the evidence's validity can be effectively addressed by demonstrating that it has been handled in a controlled and secure manner.

- D. To segment a network into multiple smaller networks

Answer: A

Explanation:

A VPN (Virtual Private Network) is a technology that enables secure and encrypted communication over a public network, such as the internet.
