NEW QUESTION # 214

Which of the following is the PRIMARY reason that organizations need to map the data flows of personal data?

- A. To comply with regulations
- B. To evaluate effectiveness of data controls
- C. To assess privacy risks
- D. To determine data integration gaps

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation

Data flow mapping is a technique to document how personal data flows within and outside an organization, including the sources, destinations, formats, purposes and legal bases of the data processing activities. Data flow mapping helps organizations to assess privacy risks, such as data breaches, unauthorized access, misuse or loss of data, and to implement appropriate controls to mitigate those risks. Data flow mapping may also help organizations to evaluate the effectiveness of data controls, determine data integration gaps and comply with regulations, but those are not the primary reasons for data flow mapping1, p. 69-70 References: 1:

NEW QUESTION # 215

A project manager for a new data collection system had a privacy impact assessment (PIA) completed before the solution was designed. Once the system was released into production, an audit revealed personal data was being collected that was not part of the PIA. What is the BEST way to avoid this situation in the future?

- A. Document personal data workflows in the product life cycle
- B. Incorporate privacy checkpoints into the secure development life cycle
- C. Require management approval of changes to system architecture design.
- D. Conduct a privacy post-implementation review.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

Incorporating privacy checkpoints into the secure development life cycle (SDLC) is the best way to avoid collecting personal data that was not part of the privacy impact assessment (PIA). Privacy checkpoints are stages in the SDLC where privacy requirements and risks are reviewed and validated, and any changes or deviations from the original PIA are identified and addressed. Privacy checkpoints help ensure that privacy is embedded throughout the system design and development, and that any changes are documented and approved.

NEW QUESTION # 216

Which party should data subject contact FIRST if they believe their personal information has been collected and used without consent?

- A. The organization's chief privacy officer (CPO)
- B. Privacy rights advocate
- C. Outside privacy counsel
- D. Data protection authorities

Answer: A

Explanation:

The data subject should contact the organization's chief privacy officer (CPO) first if they believe their personal information has been collected and used without consent. The CPO is the senior executive who is responsible for establishing and maintaining the organization's privacy vision, strategy, and program. The CPO oversees the development and implementation of privacy policies, procedures, standards, and controls, and ensures that they align with the organization's business objectives and legal obligations. The CPO also leads the privacy governance structure, such as the privacy steering committee, and coordinates with other stakeholders, such as the data protection authorities, the privacy rights advocates, and the outside privacy counsel, to ensure that privacy is integrated into all aspects of the organization's operations. The CPO is the primary point of contact for data subjects who have any questions, complaints, or requests regarding their personal information, and who can address their concerns and resolve their issues in a timely and effective manner. NEW QUESTION # 217

How can an organization BEST ensure its vendors are complying with data privacy requirements defined in their contracts?

- A. Review self-attestations of compliance provided by vendor management.
- B. Compare contract requirements against vendor deliverables.
- C. Obtain independent assessments of the vendors' data management processes.
- D. Perform penetration tests of the vendors' data security.

Answer: C

Explanation:

The best way for an organization to ensure its vendors are complying with data privacy requirements defined in their contracts is to obtain independent assessments of the vendors' data management processes, because this will provide an objective and reliable evaluation of the vendors' privacy practices, policies, and controls. Independent assessments can be performed by external auditors, consultants, or certification bodies that have the expertise and credibility to verify the vendors' compliance with the contractual obligations and expectations. Independent assessments can also help identify and address any privacy risks or gaps that may arise from the vendors' processing of personal data¹².

NEW QUESTION # 218

Which of the following is the BEST control to prevent the exposure of personal information when redeploying laptops within an organization?

- A. Disable all wireless networking in the group policy.
- B. Perform a full wipe and reimage of the laptops.
- C. Reinstall the operating system and enable laptop encryption.
- D. Set a unique static IP for the default network interface.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Performing a full wipe and reimage of the laptops is the best control to prevent the exposure of personal information when redeploying laptops within an organization. This is because a full wipe and reimage ensures that all data, including personal information, is securely erased from the laptops and replaced with a fresh installation of the operating system and applications. This reduces the risk of data leakage, unauthorized access, or data recovery by malicious actors or unauthorized users. The other options are not as effective or sufficient as a full wipe and reimage, as they do not guarantee the complete removal of personal information from the laptops.
