Oracle Cloud Infrastructure 2025 Application Integration Professional Sample Questions (Q77-Q82):

NEW QUESTION # 77

You are working on an integration within Oracle Integration Cloud (OIC) that includes several connections to external systems. As part of your development work, you need help to implement Global Fault handling to ensure that any unexpected errors are caught and handled correctly. Which approach should you use to add global fault handling within your integration?

- A. Use the Raise Fault action within your integration flow to generate custom faults and handle them accordingly.
- B. Add a Try-Catch action to your integration flow and configure it to catch and handle any faults.
- C. Create a separate integration solely for the purpose of handling faults and configure your main integration to call it when necessary.
- D. Open the Global Fault handler page on the integration canvas and add actions as needed to handle unexpected faults.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation:
Fault handling in OIC:
C:True-OIC provides aGlobal Fault Handleron the canvas to manage uncaught errors centrally.
A:False-Raise Fault generates faults, not handles them globally.
B:False-separate integrations are inefficient for this.

NEW QUESTION # 78

You need to create a scheduled orchestration integration that is based on an existing app-driven orchestration using the same display name. Which statement is valid for this use case?

- A. You can create the new integration as a different major version of the existing one.
- B. You can create the new integration by using the same display name but with a different identifier.
- C. You cannot create another integration that uses the same name.
- D. You can clone the existing integration and specify it to use the scheduled orchestration pattern.

Answer: D

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation:
OIC allows pattern changes:
B:True-cloning an app-driven integration and switching to scheduled pattern is supported, retaining the name.
A:False-versioning doesn't change the pattern.
C:False-same names are allowed with different identifiers.

NEW QUESTION # 79

Once they have been configured, which actions are allowed to be repositioned to another location within the design canvas of an orchestration-style integration flow? Select THREE.

- A. For Each Loop Action
- B. Stage File Action using a Read File in Segments operation
- C. Switch Action
- D. Stage File Action using a Write File operation
- E. JavaScript Call Action
- F. Stage File Action using a Read File operation

Answer: D,E,F

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation:
In OIC's orchestration-style flows, certain actions can be moved on the canvas post-configuration:
Stage File Action - Write File (B):This operation (writing to a staged file) is movable as it's a standalone action.
JavaScript Call Action (D):Invoking custom JavaScript is flexible and repositionable.
Stage File Action - Read File (F):Reading an entire file is a movable, independent operation.
However:
Stage File Action - Read File in Segments (A):This operation involves iterative processing (e.g., scopes for segments), restricting its mobility due to dependencies.

Switch Action (C):As a conditional branching structure, it's less flexible once branches are defined.
For Each Loop Action (E):Its iterative nature ties it to specific data structures, limiting repositioning.
This reflects OIC's design constraints for complex, dependent actions.

NEW QUESTION # 80

You are tasked with testing an integration that uses a REST trigger in Oracle Integration Cloud (OIC). You have successfully configured the REST adapter, and now you want to verify that the integration functions correctly. What should you do to test the integration?

- B. Manually trigger the integration by sending an email to a specified email address with the required REST parameters.
- C. Export the integration as a .jar file and run it in a local development environment.
- D. Use the Test button in the integration designer to create a request, validate the response, and review the execution logs.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Option A:Email isn't a valid trigger mechanism for REST integrations.
Option B:OIC integrations are exported as IAR files, not .jar, and testing occurs in the cloud, not locally.
