Adobe Experience Manager Architect Master Sample Questions (Q47-Q52):

NEW QUESTION # 47

An AEM client requests that an Architect to establish non-functional KPIs. The Architect needs to avoid impacting user experience, asset processing, and download speed while doing this.

How should the Architect measure the performance properly to establish target metrics?

- A. Use the OOTB Explain Query Tool

- B. Use JMeter for end-to-end tests
- C. Use the Free Request Log Analyzer Command Line Tool
- D. Tail the Access Log and look for long-running queries

Answer: B

Explanation:

"using JMeter for end-to-end tests can measure the performance of AEM pages and components under different load scenarios".

NEW QUESTION # 48

A client is modernizing some of their AEM sites to go from static to editable templates so they can use the latest features around has the following parameters:

- * The client currently has a dozen static templates that they want to move to editable templates.
- * The existing pages use the parsys paragraph system for storing components.
- * Each page based on one of the static templates has its own custom properties tab that is unique for that template type.
- * The client wants template authors to be able to create the editable templates.

Which approach should an Architect use to meet these requirements?

- A. 1. Use a new page component for editable templates based on the core components page component
2. Convert page properties to policies
- B. 1. Use a new page component for editable templates based on the core components page component
2. Migrate page properties to respective components dialogues
- C. 1. Use the same page components for editable templates
2. Create a new editable template based on each of the existing page components
- D. 1. Use the same page components for editable templates
2. Use a new template type for each static template

Answer: B

Explanation:

Use a new page component for editable templates based on the core components page component and migrate page properties to respective components dialogues¹². According to Adobe Experience Manager documentation¹, static templates are not considered a best practice and editable templates should be used instead. AEM Modernization tools can help migrate from static to editable templates. Editable templates use core components as their base components² and page properties can be migrated to component dialogues using content policies².

NEW QUESTION # 49

A customer is migrating from their On-Premises AEM 6.4 instances to AEM as a Cloud Service. Next to the required code refactoring, a content migration of approximately 100,000 pages needs to be performed. The customer wants the content freeze period to be limited so that editors can continue to do content actions as long as possible.

Which two recommendations should the Architect make for the migration of the content pages? (Choose two.)

- A. Migrate content deltas using a query-based packaging tool
- B. Ensure sufficient storage space on the On-Premise AEM instance
- C. Migrate the content using the Content Transfer Tool
- D. Upscale the memory of the On-Premise AEM instance
- E. Migrate the content using Lazy Content Migration approach

Answer: C,E

Explanation:

"migrating the content using Lazy Content Migration approach can reduce the content freeze period by only migrating referenced content" and "migrating the content using the Content Transfer Tool can automate and validate the migration process".

NEW QUESTION # 50

An enterprise client is on-boarding an AEM Desktop application to provide authors with the ability to load the AEM repository virtually on the file system. The desktop application is unable to connect to the AEM Author, which has SSL enabled. The intermediate certificate is installed on Apache.

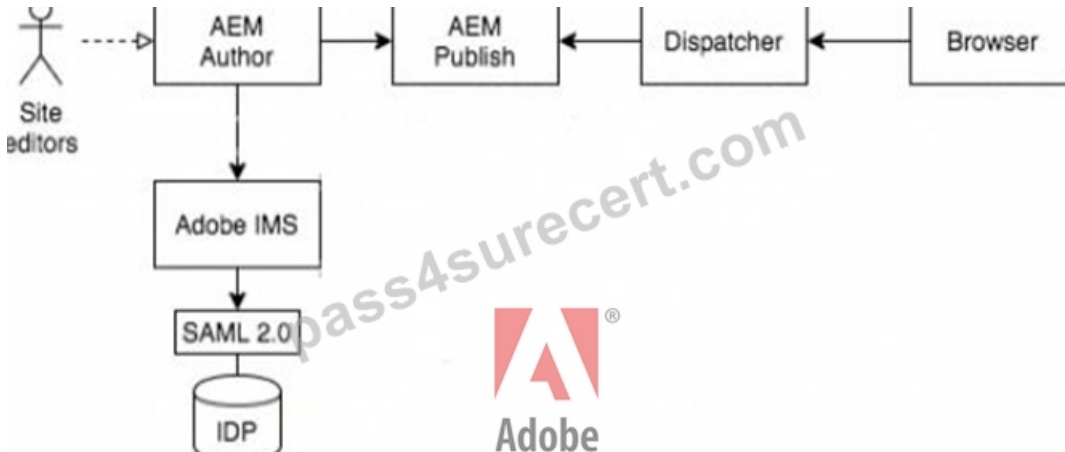

How should an Architect resolve this issue?

- A. Install the Root certificate to the AEM truststore
- B. Install the certificate chain to the keystore of the AEM authentication service user
- C. Install the certificate chain to the keystore of the AEM ssl-service user
- D. Install the certificate chain to the AEM truststore

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 51

Refer to the exhibit.

A customer has SSO on its AEM Author environment using Adobe IMS, which is integrated with the customer's IDP using SAML. The customer plans to roll out a new secured website on AEM where SSO authentication is required for end users. The end user accounts are also managed in the customer's existing IDP.

How should the Architect set up the authentication for the website?

- A. Integrate AEM Publisher using SAML with Adobe IMS
- B. Set up CUG and use User Synchronisation from Author to Publisher
- C. Integrate AEM Publisher using OAuth with Adobe IMS
- D. Integrate AEM Publisher using SAML directly with the IDP

Answer: D

Explanation:

SAML is a common and standard SSO handler that allows a user to access multiple systems after providing authentication credentials once. AEM ships with a SAML 2.0 Authentication Handler that supports signing and encryption of messages, automatic creation of users, and synching groups to existing ones in AEM3. By integrating AEM Publisher using SAML directly with the IDP, the Architect can leverage the existing user accounts and authentication mechanism for the end users of the secured website.
