A hospital system wants to track patient relationships to its cardiologist, primary care physician, and oncologist. Which object should a consultant recommend to implement?

- A. Affiliation Relationship
- B. Patient Provider Relationship
- C. Contact-Contact Relationship
- D. Healthcare Practitioner Facility

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Salesforce Health Cloud, to track a patient's relationships with multiple healthcare providers such as a cardiologist, primary care physician, and oncologist, the Patient Provider Relationship object is the appropriate choice.

Understanding the Patient Provider Relationship Object:

Purpose:

The Patient Provider Relationship object is designed to represent and manage the associations between patients (contacts) and their healthcare providers (practitioners).

It facilitates the documentation of various roles that providers play in a patient's care, enabling a comprehensive view of the patient's healthcare network.

Functionality:

This object allows healthcare organizations to record and monitor the specific relationships between patients and providers, including details such as the type of care provided, duration of the relationship, and any relevant notes.

By utilizing this object, organizations can ensure accurate and up-to-date records of all healthcare professionals involved in a patient's care, supporting coordinated and efficient care delivery.

Implementing Patient Provider Relationships:

Configuration Steps:

Define Relationship Types:

Customize the relationship types to reflect various provider roles, such as cardiologist, primary care physician, and oncologist.

Establish Relationships:

For each patient, create records in the Patient Provider Relationship object to link them with their respective providers, specifying the role and any pertinent details.

Maintain and Update Records:

Regularly update these relationships to reflect any changes in the patient's care team, ensuring that the information remains current and accurate.

By leveraging the Patient Provider Relationship object, healthcare organizations can effectively manage and visualize the network of providers associated with each patient, enhancing care coordination and patient outcomes.
