Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 278

Which of the following tests is an IS auditor performing when a sample of programs is selected to determine if the source and object versions are the same?

- A. A substantive test of the program compiler controls
- B. A compliance test of the program compiler controls
- C. A substantive test of program library controls
- D. A compliance test of program library controls

Answer: D

Explanation:

Purpose of Compliance Testing: Compliance tests ensure that processes, controls, and procedures comply with organizational policies or regulatory requirements.

Why This is Correct:

* Testing the source and object code versions verifies compliance with program library controls to ensure integrity.

Why Other Options Are Incorrect:

* A. Substantive test: Focuses on data accuracy, not compliance.

* C and D: Focus on compiler controls, not library controls.

References: EC-Council emphasizes the role of compliance tests in verifying adherence to security and operational policies in program libraries.
