Google Cloud Certified - Professional Google Workspace Administrator Sample Questions (Q81-Q86):

NEW QUESTION # 81

An employee at your company does not need access to their Workspace account while they are on leave for a year. When they return, you need to ensure they have access to their account and that all their data and current emails remain intact. Also, their shared documents must be available to other users. You must accomplish this goal in the most cost-effective way. What should you do?

- A. Assign an Archive User license
- B. Delete the user after copying their emails and reassigning their documents to their manager
- C. Suspend their account in the Admin console
- D. Remove the user license in the Admin console

Answer: C

Explanation:

Access the Admin Console: Sign in to your Google Admin console.

Navigate to Users: Click on "Directory" and then "Users."

Find the User Account: Locate the user who is going on leave.

Suspend Account: Click on the user's name to open their account details, then click "Suspend user." Confirm Suspension: Confirm the suspension, which retains all data and settings while disabling access to the account.

Shared Documents: Ensure that their shared documents remain accessible to other users without any interruptions.

NEW QUESTION # 82

The legal department at your organization is working on a time-critical merger and acquisition (M&A) deal.

They urgently require access to specific email communications from an employee who is currently on leave.

The organization's current retention policy is set to indefinite. You need to retrieve the required emails for the legal department in a manner that ensures data privacy. What should you do?

- A. Use Google Vault to create a matter specific to the M&A deal. Search for relevant emails within the employee's mailbox. Export and share relevant emails with your legal department.
- B. Instruct the IT department to directly access and forward the relevant emails to the legal department.
- C. Ask a colleague with delegate access to the employee's mailbox to identify and forward the relevant emails to the legal department.
- D. Temporarily grant the legal department access to the employee's email account with a restricted scope that is limited to the M&A-related emails.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Using Google Vault to create a matter specific to the M&A deal allows for legal, secure, and privacy-compliant retrieval of emails. You can search for the specific emails related to the merger and acquisition, export them, and share them with the legal department without granting direct access to the employee's mailbox. This approach ensures both data privacy and compliance with organizational policies.

NEW QUESTION # 83

Your Finance team has to share quarterly financial reports in Sheets with an external auditor. The external company is not a Workspace customer and allows employees to access public sites such as Gmail and Facebook. How can you provide the ability to securely share content to collaborators that do not have a Google Workspace or consumer (Gmail) account?

- A. Attach the Sheet file to an email message, and send to the external auditor.
- B. Use the 'Publish' feature in the Sheets editor to share the contents externally.
- C. Enable the 'Visitor Sharing' feature, and demonstrate it to the Finance team.
- D. Allow external sharing with the auditor using the 'Trusted Domains' feature.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Enable Visitor Sharing: In the Google Admin console, go to Apps > Google Workspace > Drive and Docs > Sharing settings.

Enable the 'Visitor Sharing' feature.

Configure Visitor Sharing: Ensure that the sharing settings allow sharing with external users who do not have a Google account.

Demonstrate to Finance Team: Conduct a training session with the Finance team to demonstrate how to use the Visitor Sharing feature securely.

Share Reports: When sharing the quarterly financial reports, use the Visitor Sharing option to generate a secure sharing link that can be accessed by the external auditor without requiring a Google account.

Monitor and Review: Regularly review shared documents to ensure that access is being appropriately managed and that the security of shared data is maintained.

NEW QUESTION # 85

In your organization, users have been provisioned with either Google Workspace Enterprise, Google Workspace Business, or no license, depending on their job duties, and the cost of user licenses is paid out of each division's budget. In order to effectively manage the license disposition, team leaders require the ability to look up the type of license that is currently assigned, along with the last logon date, for their direct reports.

You have been tasked with recommending a solution to the Director of IT, and have gathered the following requirements:

- * Team leaders must be able to retrieve this data on their own (i.e., self-service).
- * Team leaders are not permitted to have any level of administrative access to the Google Workspace Admin panel.
- * Team leaders must only be able to look up data for their direct reports.
- * The data must always be current to within 1 week.
- * Costs must be mitigated.

What approach should you recommend?

- A. Use App Script and filter views within a Google Sheet.
- B. Create an app using AppMaker and App Script.
- C. Use a third-party tool.
- D. Export log data to BigQuery with custom scopes.

Answer: A

Explanation:

- * Develop an App Script:
- * Write an App Script to retrieve user data from the Google Workspace directory, including license type and last login date.
- * Ensure the script filters data based on the team leader's direct reports.
- * Create a Google Sheet:
- * Set up a Google Sheet to display the retrieved data.
- * Use filter views to restrict the data visible to each team leader, showing only their direct reports.
- * Automate Data Refresh:
- * Schedule the App Script to run periodically (e.g., once a week) to ensure the data is up-to-date.
- * Share with Team Leaders:
- * Share the Google Sheet with team leaders, ensuring they have view-only access to the relevant filter views.
