HPE Aruba Networking ClearPass Exam Sample Questions (Q70-Q75):

NEW QUESTION # 70

An IT administrator is setting up guest access on a corporate network using ClearPass. They have configured the RADIUS service correctly and enabled the Allow All MAC AUTH method.

However, they notice that clients are not redirected to the captive portal for authentication. What is the likely reason for this issue?

- A. The guest repository is not properly tagging the endpoints with the necessary information.
- B. The 'captive portal access' value does not match the user role on the gateway associated with the captive portal.
- C. The MAC caching feature is not enabled for the guest access service.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Captive portal redirection depends on a match between the role returned by ClearPass and the user role configured on the gateway. If the captive portal access value sent by ClearPass does not exactly match the gateway's captive portal role, the gateway will not trigger the redirect, even though MAC authentication is allowed.

NEW QUESTION # 71

A company needs to add a new field to an existing form and wants it to appear before a specific field already on the form. What is the correct sequence of actions to meet this need?

- A. Use the Customize Form Field workspace to drag and drop the new field before the existing one.
- B. Select the existing field in the forms editor and choose the 'Insert After' option.
- C. Select the existing field in the forms editor and choose the 'Insert Before' option.

Answer: C

Explanation:

To insert a new field before an existing one in a ClearPass form, the administrator must select the existing field in the form editor and choose the 'Insert Before' option. This ensures the new field is positioned correctly in the desired order without disrupting the rest of the form layout.

NEW QUESTION # 72

Which two features are provided by ClearPass Onboard?
(Choose two)

Response:

- A. Dynamic VLAN enforcement
- B. Antivirus scanning
- C. Device certificate provisioning
- D. Wi-Fi configuration for mobile devices

Answer: C,D

NEW QUESTION # 73

A network engineer is tasked with creating enforcement profiles for a multi-vendor environment.

They want to minimize the number of enforcement profiles they need to write. Which approach should the engineer take?

- A. Write separate enforcement profiles for each device vendor type.
- B. Utilize IETF attributes instead of vendor-specific attributes.
- C. Enable SNMP services on all network devices.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Using IETF-standard RADIUS attributes allows enforcement profiles to be applied consistently across different network device vendors. This avoids reliance on vendor-specific attributes and significantly reduces the number of enforcement profiles required in a multi-vendor environment.

NEW QUESTION # 74

A network administrator is troubleshooting an issue where endpoints are not receiving updated enforcement decisions after a second authentication. What is the most likely configuration change needed?

- A. Disable the "Use Cached Results" on enforcement tab.
- B. Increase the frequency of the posture checks.
- C. Disable endpoint re-authentication.

Answer: A

Explanation:

The most likely fix is to disable the "Use Cached Results" option on the Enforcement tab. When caching is enabled, ClearPass may reuse previous enforcement decisions, preventing updated policies from being applied after re-authentication. Disabling this ensures that each authentication request is freshly evaluated against current posture and policy data.
