NEW QUESTION # 112

Scenario: An organization has made a decision to address Information Security formally and consistently by adopting established best practices and industry standards. The organization is a small retail merchant but it is expected to grow to a global customer base of many millions of customers in just a few years.

This global retail company is expected to accept credit card payments. Which of the following is of MOST concern when defining a security program for this organization?

- A. International encryption restrictions
- B. Compliance to Payment Card Industry (PCI) data security standards
- C. Compliance with local government privacy laws
- D. Adherence to local data breach notification laws

Answer: B

Explanation:

Critical Concerns for a Retail Organization

* As the organization handles credit card payments, compliance with PCI DSS is paramount to protect cardholder data and maintain trust.
* PCI DSS addresses specific risks related to payment processing and data security.

Why Not Other Options?

* A. International encryption restrictions: Relevant but not as critical as PCI compliance for payment systems.
* C. Compliance with local privacy laws: Important but secondary to the global standards of PCI DSS.
* D. Local data breach notification laws: Reactive in nature and less comprehensive than PCI DSS requirements.

EC-Council References

* PCI DSS is a cornerstone of security programs in retail organizations and is frequently emphasized in EC-Council CISO training.
