NEW QUESTION # 212

A business has a proprietary Order Management System (OMS) that creates orders from its website and fulfills the orders. When the order is created in the OMS, an integration also creates an order record in Salesforce and relates it to the contact as identified by the email on the order. As the order goes through different stages in the OMS, the integration also updates it in Salesforce. The business notices that each update from the OMS creates a new order record in Salesforce. Which two actions should prevent the duplicate order records from being created in Salesforce?

- A. Use the email on the contact record as an external ID.
- B. Ensure that the order number in the OMS is unique.
- C. Use the order number from the OMS as an external ID.
- D. Write a trigger on the Order object to delete the duplicates.

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

To prevent duplicate Order records from being created when updates come from the OMS:

Option B: Use the order number from the OMS as an external ID.

Option D: Ensure that the order number in the OMS is unique.

Why These Actions Prevent Duplicates:

By using upsert with the External ID, the integration can update existing orders instead of creating new ones.

// Example of upsert operation using External ID

upsert orderRecord Order_Number__c;

Reference:

"An external ID is a custom field that has the 'External ID' attribute, meaning that it contains unique record identifiers from a system outside of Salesforce."

- Salesforce Help: External ID Fields

* Why Other Options Are Incorrect:

Option A: Using the email on the Contact record as an External ID does not prevent duplicate Orders.

Option C: Writing a trigger to delete duplicates is not proactive and adds complexity.
