PMI Project Management Office Certified Professional Sample Questions (Q119-Q124):

NEW QUESTION # 119

A PMO professional is responsible for supporting programs and projects at a government organization. The PMO professional has been tasked with providing project management tools and information systems that will enable the organization's project managers to achieve their goals effectively.

Which two actions should the PMO professional take? (Choose 2)

- A. Enhance the organization's project management tools and information systems to meet the specific needs of the project managers.
- B. Adapt the project management tools and information systems to be compliant with government regulations.
- C. Provide the project managers with a list of project management tools and information systems in the market and have them pick.
- D. Meet with the project managers to understand their needs and any gaps in using project management tools and information systems.

Answer: B,DExplanation:

Ensuring the tools comply with government regulations (Option A) is non-negotiable due to the regulatory environment. Engaging with project managers to understand their practical needs and gaps (Option B) ensures that the tools support real-world work effectively.

Simply providing a market list (Option C) risks lack of standardization and confusion. Enhancing tools (Option D) is appropriate but should be based on user needs identified through direct engagement.

PMI-PMOCP Lifecycle Management domain underscores regulatory compliance and user-centric tool adaptations as critical success factors.

NEW QUESTION # 120

A software company hired a PMO professional to establish a new PMO to oversee the performance of its projects and create the required processes. The new PMO professional immediately conducted project management training sessions for all project managers, developed project templates, and regularly conducted project audits. After the PMO had been in service for a year, senior management decided to shut down the PMO due to lack of value generation.

What should the PMO professional have done differently to ensure that the PMO generated the desired value?

- A. Validate and align with senior management's expectations at the beginning of the PMO setup.
- B. Conduct the required training on a smaller scale first before delivering the training to all project managers.
- C. Change the frequency of project audits in order to reduce the PMO operating costs.
- D. Reduce the costs of the PMO in the first year and increase it gradually year over year.

Answer: AExplanation:

A critical early step in establishing a PMO is to validate and align the PMO's purpose, objectives, and services with senior management expectations. PMI-PMOCP emphasizes stakeholder engagement and alignment as foundations for PMO success.

Without this alignment, PMO efforts may miss organizational priorities, resulting in perceived lack of value.

While training and audits are important, their scale and scope should reflect the organization's needs and priorities. Costs and frequency changes (options A and C) are secondary to strategic alignment. Smaller scale training (option B) may help adoption but does not replace the need for clear expectation-setting.

Alignment ensures the PMO delivers relevant services and is recognized as a value driver.

NEW QUESTION # 121

A PMO professional is mentoring a project manager who is overseeing a project critical to the organization's strategic goals. The project manager has encountered resistance from a key stakeholder who believes the project's direction might jeopardize their department's interests. Despite written communication, the stakeholder remains concerned.

What should the PMO professional advise the project manager to do?

- A. Convene a meeting with the stakeholder to better understand their concerns.
- B. Assign a team member to handle the stakeholder and mitigate their objections.
- C. Escalate the issue to senior management to override the stakeholder's objections.
- D. Continue with the project as planned, ignoring the stakeholder's concerns.

Answer: AExplanation:

Direct engagement through a meeting to understand stakeholder concerns is the recommended approach.

PMI-PMOCP stresses active listening and open dialogue as key techniques for resolving resistance, building trust, and finding collaborative solutions that align project and stakeholder interests.

Escalating prematurely (option A) or ignoring concerns (option D) risks damaging relationships and project success. Delegating the issue (option C) may fragment accountability.

NEW QUESTION # 122

In a large energy company, a PMO was recently established to help organize the numerous projects that are completed every year. Executives have passionate discussions in meetings to select and prioritize projects to enter the portfolio. These discussions cause frequent delays and result in decisions being questioned by some of the executive board members.

What should the PMO professional do to improve this situation?

- A. Implement a portfolio management service that includes established criteria for project selection and prioritization.
- B. Facilitate the selection and prioritization process based on their own project management experience.
- C. Ask the executives to discuss issues based on the projects' proposed business cases so that discussions are more objective.
- D. Suggest informal activities to build interpersonal relationships among the company executives.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Effective portfolio management relies on defined, transparent criteria for project selection and prioritization to ensure alignment with organizational strategy and resource optimization. PMI-PMOCP highlights that a PMO professional should implement formal portfolio management processes, including documented criteria, scoring models, and decision-making frameworks. This reduces subjectivity and political debate, expedites decision-making, and fosters executive alignment and accountability.

While facilitating discussions (option A) or encouraging objective business case discussions (option C) may help, without an established process and criteria, subjective debates and delays are likely to persist. Informal relationship-building (option D) supports teamwork but does not address structural inefficiencies. Establishing portfolio management services that guide selection ensures consistent, efficient governance of projects.

NEW QUESTION # 123

Due to a recent organizational transformation, the PMO has been excluded from strategic meetings and discussions. Although still responsible for program and project performance reporting, business representatives are now bypassing the PMO and directly approaching project managers for specific performance updates.

What actions should the PMO professional take to ensure the PMO remains valued by the organization?

- A. Redesign the PMO reports based on the type of information the project managers are providing to the business representatives.
- B. Meet with business representatives individually to understand their current needs and adjust the PMO services accordingly.
- C. Consult with the business representatives to determine what they would like to change in the reports they are receiving from the PMO.
- D. Request project managers to continue following the established process of reporting to the PMO.

Answer: B

Explanation:

When a PMO's role is diminished due to organizational change, proactively engaging with business representatives is critical. PMI-PMOCP emphasizes meeting with key stakeholders individually to understand their evolving needs and expectations. This approach helps the PMO realign its services, rebuild trust, and demonstrate relevance, ensuring it continues to add value.

Redesigning reports (option A) or consulting about reports (option C) are tactical and may follow understanding needs but lack the personal engagement necessary for sustained value. Simply enforcing existing processes (option D) ignores the root cause of bypass behavior.
