NEW QUESTION # 159

Which of the following is NOT a recommended strategy when conducting admission-seeking interviews?

- A. Ensure that accusations are made under conditions of privacy to avoid potential liability
- B. Present a morally acceptable reason for the subject's behavior
- C. Minimize empathy while emphasizing the perception of moral wrongdoing
- D. Conduct admission-seeking interviews only when time is not a factor.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Best practices for admission-seeking interviews emphasize building rapport, presenting a morally acceptable reason, and maintaining empathy to encourage a confession. The manual states examiners should "present a morally acceptable reason for the suspect's behavior" and avoid creating hostility. Minimizing empathy is counterproductive and not recommended.

- A. Dust all physical key documents for fingerprints
- B. Make copies of originals and leave the originals where they were found
- C. Establish a document database early in the investigation
- D. Organize all the documents obtained in chronological order

Answer: C

Explanation:

The Fraud Examiners Manual advises that fraud examiners should preserve and organize evidence, and one of the key steps is to establish a document database early. Dusting for fingerprints, leaving originals behind, or organizing solely in chronological order are not standard best practices.
