NEW QUESTION # 126

You have an Azure subscription that has the following configurations:

* Subscription ID: 8d3591aa-96b8-4737-ad09-00f9b1ed35ad

* Tenant ID: 3edfe572-cbS4-3ced-ae12-c5c177f39a12

NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point.

Answer:

Explanation:

Explanation:

Comprehensive Detailed Explanation You're creating a resource that will handle sentiment analysis (Language) and OCR (Vision) with a single key and endpoint. That is a Cognitive Services multi-service (Azure AI services) account.

When creating any Azure resource via ARM (HTTP/REST), the URL must be scoped to a subscription, not a tenant, and use the correct resource provider.

* Scope segment: Use `https://management.azure.com/subscriptions/{subscriptionId}/resourceGroups/{rg}/providers/...` Therefore, choose `subscriptions/8d3591aa-96b8-4737-ad09-00f9b1ed35ad` (not the tenant scope).

* Resource provider: Multi-service cognitive account is under `Microsoft.CognitiveServices`. The full path to create would be like `/providers/Microsoft.CognitiveServices/accounts/{accountName}?api-version=2021-10-01` This creates a single Cognitive Services (Azure AI services) resource that provides one endpoint and one key across multiple services (e.g., Language for sentiment analysis and Vision for OCR).

* Azure Resource Manager: Create Cognitive Services account (`Microsoft.CognitiveServices/accounts`) using REST and API version 2021-10-01.

* Azure AI services (Cognitive Services) multi-service resource overview-single key/endpoint across services.
