CompTIA A+ Certification Exam: Core 2 Sample Questions (Q210-Q215):

NEW QUESTION # 210
Which of the following is found in an MSDS sheet for a battery backup?

- A. Installation instructions
- B. Emergency procedures
- C. Configuration steps
- D. Voltage specifications

Answer: B

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:
An MSDS (Material Safety Data Sheet), now commonly referred to as SDS (Safety Data Sheet), is a document that provides detailed information on the properties of a particular substance. It includes safety guidelines and emergency procedures related to handling, exposure, fire hazards, and first aid-not installation or configuration instructions.
For a battery backup (UPS device), the MSDS would include emergency procedures such as what to do in case of a chemical spill, exposure to battery acid, or fire hazard due to overheating or chemical leakage. This ensures the safety of personnel and complies with hazardous materials handling regulations.

NEW QUESTION # 211

A technician is working on a complex, large-scale software deployment. In which of the following places would the technician most likely reference deployment instructions?

- A. Email
- B. File server
- C. User's desktop
- D. Internal wiki

Answer: D

Explanation:
An internal wiki is the most likely place to store deployment instructions because it provides centralized, documented, and easily accessible technical procedures for large-scale or complex tasks.

NEW QUESTION # 212

A user calls the help desk to report an issue with their smartphone. After the user returns from a business trip, the user is no longer able to access email or visit websites without a Wi-Fi connection on the smartphone. Which of the following would the user do to most likely resolve the issue?

- A. Disconnect the VPN.
- B. Increase data limits.
- C. Reinstall the SIM card
- D. Enable cellular data.

Answer: D

Explanation:
If the smartphone works only on Wi-Fi and not on mobile networks, the most likely cause is that cellular data is disabled. Enabling cellular data restores access to email and websites while away from Wi-Fi.

NEW QUESTION # 213

A technician is setting up a surveillance system for a customer. The customer wants access to the system's web interface on the LAN via the system's IP address. Which of the following should the technician use to prevent external log-in attempts from the internet?

- A. Static IP
- B. Subnetting
- C. Port mapping
- D. Content filtering

Answer: C

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed Explanation From Exact Extract:
To prevent external access, the technician should avoid exposing the surveillance system's port to the public internet. Port mapping (also known as port forwarding) is the method used to control which internal devices and ports are accessible from the outside. By not configuring port forwarding for the device, external login attempts are effectively blocked.
B: Subnetting organizes IP addresses but doesn't directly restrict access.
C: A static IP ensures consistent addressing but does not secure access.
D: Content filtering is used to restrict web content, not to block access to a web interface.
Reference:
CompTIA A+ 220-1102 Objective 2.2: Compare and contrast security measures and tools.
Study Guide Section: SOHO router security - port forwarding and blocking external access

NEW QUESTION # 214

A company wants to prevent unauthorized physical access to its mobile devices. Which of the following should the company do? (Choose two.)

- A. Enable screen timeout.
- B. Turn on location services.
- C. Configure VPN software.
- D. Use PIN authentication.
- E. Install an antivirus application.
- F. Disable built-in hotspots.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:
A PIN prevents unauthorized users from unlocking the device, and a screen timeout ensures the device locks automatically when unattended, protecting it from physical access.
