It is based on the business requirement document, which is a document that captures the business needs and goals of the customer. NEW QUESTION # 91

Which two statements are true, if an org hits the account product period forecast record limit?

- A. New products added to account forecasts will not be included in recalculations

- B. New Products cannot be added to account forecasts
- C. New products are not added when recalculating a single account forecast or recalculating all account forecasts
- D. The add products option will no longer appear on the agreement terms tab

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

The account product period forecast record limit is the maximum number of records that can be stored in the Account Product Period Forecast object, which represents the quantity and revenue information of products for a particular time period of the forecast rolling period¹. The default limit is 9 million records, but it can be changed by the admin². If the org hits the limit, new products cannot be added to account forecasts, and new products are not added when recalculating a single account forecast or recalculating all account forecasts².

This means that the forecast data will not reflect the latest changes in the product portfolio and may affect the accuracy of the forecast. The add products option will still appear on the agreement terms tab, but it will not work if the limit is reached. New products added to account forecasts will be included in recalculations, as long as the limit is not exceeded.
