- B. Edit an API Client
- C. Delete an API Client

- D. Retrieve an API Client Secret

Answer: D

An API Client is an entity that represents a user or application that can access the Falcon platform programmatically via the Falcon APIs. An API Client has an API Client ID and an API Client Secret, which are used for authenticating and authorizing API requests. You can create and manage API Clients in the API Clients and Keys page in the Falcon console. The available actions for an API Client are Edit an API Client, Reset an API Client Secret, and Delete an API Client. You can restore an inactive host from the Trash page if it becomes active again within 90 days.

NEW QUESTION # 30

Which of the following best describes what the Uninstall and Maintenance Protection setting controls within your Sensor Update Policy?

- A. Prevents the sensor from entering Reduced Functionality Mode
- B. Prevents unauthorized uninstallation of the sensor
- C. Prevents automatic updates of the sensor
- D. Prevents modification of sensor update policy

Answer: B

Explanation:
The option that best describes what the Uninstall and Maintenance Protection setting controls within your Sensor Update Policy is that it prevents unauthorized uninstallation of the sensor. The Uninstall and Maintenance Protection setting is a feature that adds an extra layer of security to the sensor by requiring a maintenance token to uninstall or update the sensor manually. The maintenance token is a unique code that can be generated by a Falcon Administrator or a Real Time Response - Administrator in the Falcon console. Without a valid maintenance token, the sensor cannot be uninstalled or updated by anyone, including local administrators or malware.

NEW QUESTION # 31

When a host belongs to more than one host group, how is sensor update precedence determined?

- A. Sensors of hosts that belong to more than one group must be manually updated
- B. The highest precedence policy from the most important group is applied to the host
- C. Groups have no impact on sensor update policies
- D. All of the host's groups are examined in aggregate and the policy with highest precedence is applied to the host

Answer: D

Explanation:

The option that describes how sensor update precedence is determined when a host belongs to more than one host group is that all of the host's groups are examined in aggregate and the policy with highest precedence is applied to the host. A Sensor Update policy is a policy that controls how and when the Falcon sensor is updated on a host. You can create and assign custom Sensor Update policies to different hosts or groups in your environment. Each Sensor Update policy has a precedence value, which determines its priority over other policies. The higher the precedence value, the higher the priority. If a host belongs to more than one host group, each with a different Sensor Update policy assigned, then all of the host's groups are examined in aggregate and the policy with highest precedence among them is applied to the host.

NEW QUESTION # 32

What best describes the relationship between Sensor Update policies and Operating Systems?

- A. Sensor Update polices are not Operating System specific. One policy can be applied to all Operating Systems
- B. A Sensor Update policy must be configured for each Operating System (Windows, Mac, Linux)
- C. Windows and Mac share Sensor Update policies. Linux requires its own set of polices based on the different kernel versions
- D. Windows has its own Sensor Update polices. But Mac and Linux share Sensor Update policies

Answer: B

Explanation:
The option that describes the relationship between Sensor Update policies and Operating Systems is that a Sensor Update policy must be configured for each Operating System (Windows, Mac, Linux). This option is essentially a repetition of question 141 and its answer.
Sensor Update policies are specific to each operating system type, as different operating systems have different sensor versions, features, and requirements. Therefore, you need to create and assign separate Sensor Update policies for each operating system type in your environment.
