NEW QUESTION # 25

A call center agent uses the Energy and Utilities Contact Center Console to schedule a field technician appointment for a customer. What license is needed to complete this customer requirement?

- A. Salesforce Contact Center license
- B. Energy and Utilities Base Service license
- C. Salesforce Field Service license
- D. Salesforce Service Console license

Answer: B

Explanation:

To schedule a field technician appointment using the Energy and Utilities Contact Center Console, the call center agent requires the Energy and Utilities Base Service license. This specific license grants access to the functionalities and features within the Energy and Utilities Cloud, including the ability to schedule appointments and manage field service operations directly from the Contact Center Console. It's tailored to meet the unique requirements of energy and utility companies, providing the necessary tools to support customer service and field service coordination. Reference = The Salesforce Energy and Utilities Cloud documentation details the licensing requirements for using the platform, including the need for the Energy and Utilities Base Service license for call center agents performing tasks such as scheduling field technician appointments: <https://www.salesforce.com/products/industries/energy-and-utilities/overview/>

NEW QUESTION # 26

The implementation project has identified a need to retrieve and update data from the energy provider's legacy billing application. The customer is already a MuleSoft customer, but they also use middleware technology from another supplier. What approach should you recommend to build this integration to the legacy billing application?

- A. Go to Any point Exchange and search for energy assets (to locate templates for previously built integrations with billing systems), and then enhance these assets
- B. Recommend the introduction of another systems integration partner who specializes in building integrations from Salesforce to billing systems.
- C. Begin building a custom, point-to-point integration, including a whole new user interface and data model to mimic that of the legacy billing application.

- D. Start by defining APIs in both Salesforce and the legacy billing system, and then build custom Java code to implement a point-to-point integration

Answer: A

Explanation:

When aiming to integrate Salesforce Energy and Utilities Cloud with a legacy billing application, especially when the customer is already using MuleSoft, leveraging existing assets from Anypoint Exchange is a strategic approach. Anypoint Exchange often contains templates and pre-built integration patterns that can significantly speed up the integration process by providing a starting point that is specifically tailored or easily adaptable to energy and utility industry needs. This method fosters efficiency and leverages community knowledge and previous successful implementations. Reference = MuleSoft's Anypoint Exchange is a central repository for connectors, templates, and APIs. Its utility for Salesforce integrations, especially within the Energy and Utilities sector, is documented in MuleSoft's resources and guides on Anypoint Platform: <https://www.mulesoft.com/exchange/>
