CCE Global Counselor Preparation Comprehensive Examination (CPCE) Sample Questions (Q160-Q165):

NEW QUESTION # 160

During a counseling session, a client who is notably upset about spousal extramarital affairs discloses ownership of a gun and intention to make the spouse pay. In this case, a professional counselor would be expected to

- A. follow federal guidelines for reporting a homicidal client.
- B. warn others of the client's intentions to do harm.
- C. arrange an additional session to evaluate the client's lethality.

Answer: B

Explanation:

When a client discloses an intention to harm someone, counselors are ethically and legally required to take reasonable steps to warn the potential victim and/or notify authorities. This is known as the "duty to warn" (from the landmark Tarasoff v. Regents of the University of California case). The counselor must breach confidentiality if there is a clear threat of violence to an identifiable person.

NEW QUESTION # 161

An effective method for a group leader to help group members develop trust among themselves is to

- A. require that group members only give positive feedback to each other.
- B. present personal examples of how trust has been developed in previous groups.
- C. encourage group members to reveal their feelings of lack of trust to each other.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Encouraging group members to reveal their feelings of lack of trust to each other is an effective way for a group leader to promote openness and honesty. This process can foster authentic communication, address concerns directly, and gradually build trust. Artificially requiring only positive feedback does not lead to genuine trust.

NEW QUESTION # 162

A counselor administers a test twice to the same client and obtains very similar scores. This is an example of:

- A. Test-retest reliability
- B. Inter-rater reliability
- C. Validity

Answer: A

Explanation:

Test-retest reliability refers to the consistency of a test over time; when a test is administered to the same person on two different occasions and yields similar results, it demonstrates high test-retest reliability. This indicates stability of measurement across time.

Reference: Helwig, A. A. (2020). CPCE Study Guide and Review; Groth-Mamat, G. (2009). Handbook of Psychological Assessment.

NEW QUESTION # 163

Which of the following is not a significant potential limitation of group counseling?

- A. Some members become dependent on the group process.
- B. Feedback from members increases sensitivity to personal dynamics.
- C. There is often undue pressure to conform to group norms.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Feedback from other members that increases sensitivity to personal dynamics is actually considered a benefit, not a limitation, of group counseling. Common limitations include dependence on the group process and undue pressure to conform, but enhanced self-awareness through feedback is a therapeutic gain.

Reference: Helwig, A. A. (2020). CPCE Study Guide and Review; Corey, G. (2016). Theory and Practice of Group Counseling (9th Edition).

NEW QUESTION # 164

The reliability coefficient that is approximately equal to the average of all the possible split-half reliability coefficients for a specific test is the _____ coefficient.

- A. Kuder-Richardson
- B. test-retest

- C. Spearman-Brown

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Kuder-Richardson coefficient (specifically KR-20 and KR-21) is used to estimate the internal consistency reliability of a test and is mathematically equivalent to the average of all possible split-half reliabilities. It is most often used with tests whose items are scored dichotomously (e.g., correct/incorrect). "Kuder-Richardson formulas provide an index of reliability that represents the average of all possible split-half coefficients for a test." Reference: Helwig, A. A. (2020). CPCE Study Guide and Review; Cohen, R. J., & Swerdlik, M. E. (2018). Psychological Testing and Assessment.
