CWNP Certified Wireless Analysis Professional Sample Questions (Q100-Q105):

NEW QUESTION # 100

Which one of the following is not a valid acknowledgement frame?

- A. CTS

- B. Block Ack
- C. Ack
- D. RTS

Answer: D

Explanation:

RTS is not a valid acknowledgement frame. RTS stands for Request To Send, and it is a control frame that is used to initiate an RTS/CTS exchange before sending a data frame. The purpose of an RTS/CTS exchange is to reserve the medium for a data transmission and avoid collisions with hidden nodes. An acknowledgement frame is a control frame that is used to confirm the successful reception of a data frame or a block of data frames. The valid acknowledgement frames are CTS (Clear To Send), Ack (Acknowledgement), and Block Ack (Block Acknowledgement). NEW QUESTION # 101

After examining a Beacon frame decode you see the SSID Element has a length of 0. What do you conclude about this frame?

- A. The frame is corrupted
- B. The beacon is from a BSS configured to hide the SSID
- C. SSID elements always have a length of 0
- D. This is a common attack on WISP backend SQL databases

Answer: B

Explanation:

If the SSID element has a length of 0 in a Beacon frame decode, it means that the beacon is from a BSS configured to hide the SSID. The SSID element is a part of the Beacon frame that contains the name or identifier of the BSS. The SSID element has two fields: length and value. The length field indicates how many bytes are used for the value field, which contains the actual SSID string. If the length field is 0, it means that there is no value field or SSID string in the element. This is a common technique used by some APs to hide their SSID from passive scanning clients or potential attackers. However, this technique does not provide much security, as there are other ways to discover or reveal the hidden SSID, such as active scanning or capturing probe response or association frames. NEW QUESTION # 102

When performing protocol analysis, you capture an 802.1 lac data frame on channel 52, transmitted at MCS 8.

At what data rate was the PHY Preamble transmitted?

- A. 86.7 Mbps
- B. 54 Mbps
- C. 6 Mbps
- D. 78 Mbps

Answer: C

Explanation:

The data rate at which the PHY preamble was transmitted is 6 Mbps. The PHY preamble is a part of the PPDU that is transmitted before the PHY header and the PSDU. The PHY preamble consists of a series of training fields that help the receiver to detect and synchronize with the signal. The PHY preamble is always transmitted at a fixed data rate that depends on the type of PPDU (e.g., OFDM, HT, VHT, HE). For an 802.1 lac data frame on channel 52, which uses VHT PPDU, the data rate for the PHY preamble is 6 Mbps. This data rate does not depend on MCS (Modulation and Coding Scheme), which only affects the data rate for the PSDU. NEW QUESTION # 103

Where would you look in a packet trace file to identify the configured Minimum Basic Rate (MBR) of a BSS?

- A. In the Minimum Basic Rate Element in a Beacon frame
- B. Supported Rates & Extended Supported Rates elements in a Beacon frame
- C. In the MBR Information Element in an Association Response frame
- D. In the MBR Action frame

Answer: B

Explanation:

The configured Minimum Basic Rate (MBR) of a BSS can be identified by looking at the Supported Rates and Extended Supported Rates elements in a Beacon frame. A Beacon frame is a type of management frame that is transmitted by an AP to advertise its presence and capabilities to potential clients. A Beacon frame contains various information elements (IEs) that provide details about the BSS configuration and operation.

The Supported Rates and Extended Supported Rates IEs list the data rates that are supported by the AP for data transmission. The MBR is the lowest data rate among these supported rates that is required for all clients to join and communicate with the BSS. The MBR is usually marked with a flag bit in these IEs to indicate its mandatory status. The other options are not correct, as they do not exist or do not indicate the MBR of a BSS. NEW QUESTION # 104

Which one of the following portions of information is communicated by bits in the PHY Header?

- A. Data rate
- B. Signal strength
- C. SNR
- D. Noise

Answer: A

Explanation:

One of the information that is communicated by bits in the PHY header is data rate. Data rate is the speed at which data is transmitted or received over the wireless medium. Data rate depends on factors such as modulation, coding, channel width, spatial streams, and guard interval. Data rate is indicated by bits in different fields of the PHY header, depending on the type of PPDU (e.g., OFDM, HT, VHT, HE). The receiver uses these bits to determine how to decode and demodulate the rest of the PPDU. The other options are not correct, as they are not communicated by bits in the PHY header. SNR (Signal-to-Noise Ratio), noise, and signal strength are measured by the receiver based on its own capabilities and environment.
