Salesforce B2B Commerce for Developers Accredited Professional Sample Questions (Q126-Q131):

NEW QUESTION # 126

Which three files comprise the essential pieces of a Lightning Web Component that is named myComponent?

- A. myComponent.html
- B. myComponent.js-meta.xml
- C. myComponent.js
- D. myNewComponent.css
- E. myComponent.aura

Answer: A,B,C

Explanation:

A Lightning Web Component (LWC) consists of a minimum of three core files: the template file (.html), the JavaScript file (.js), and the metadata configuration file (.js-meta.xml). These files are essential for defining the structure, functionality, and configuration of the component. For more information, review the Salesforce LWC documentation: Salesforce LWC Documentation.

NEW QUESTION # 127

Which three actions are applicable when modifying the number of steps required in the Salesforce Commerce Checkout flow? (3 answers)

- A. Build and activate a new configuration cache setting via CC admin.
- B. Set the value of the configuration setting defined as CO.overrideFlow to TRUE
- C. Set the value of the configuration setting defined as CO.useDef to TRUE
- D. Perform a template override on the Checkout page.
- E. Add a page include to the checkout page.

Answer: A,B,D

Explanation:

Three actions that are applicable when modifying the number of steps required in the Salesforce Commerce Checkout flow are:

Perform a template override on the Checkout page. This action will allow you to change the structure and content of the Checkout page, such as adding or removing sections, widgets, or fields. For example, you can override the checkout.handlebars template and modify it according to your requirements.

Set the value of the configuration setting defined as CO.overrideFlow to TRUE. This setting will enable you to use your own custom checkout flow instead of the default one. You need to set this value to true before you can modify the checkout flow.

Set the value of the configuration setting defined as CO.useDef to TRUE. This setting will enable you to use a single-page checkout flow instead of a multi-step checkout flow. You need to set this value to true if you want to reduce the number of steps in the checkout flow to one. Salesforce B2B Commerce and D2C Commerce Developer Guide, Checkout Flow

NEW QUESTION # 128

A developer has created a custom Lightning web component to display on the Product Detail page in the store. When the developer goes to add the component to the page in Experience Builder, it is missing from the list of custom components.

Which XML fragment should the developer include in the component's configuration XML file to ensure the custom component is available to add to the page?

- A. ☐
- B. ☐
- C. ☒
- D. ☐

Answer: C

Explanation:

The XML fragment that the developer should include in the component's configuration XML file to ensure the custom component is available to add to the page is option B. Option B uses the <targets> tag to specify where the component can be used in an app. The <targets> tag contains a list of <target> tags, each of which defines a valid target for the component. The value of the <target> tag for the Product Detail page in the store is lightningCommunity__RecordPage, which means that the component can be used on any record page in a Lightning community. Option A is incorrect because it uses an invalid value for the <target> tag. There is no such target as lightningCommunity__ProductDetailPage. Option C is incorrect because it uses an invalid syntax for the <targets> tag.

The <targets> tag should not have any attributes, such as isAvailable. Option D is incorrect because it uses an invalid syntax for the <target> tag. The <target> tag should not be self-closing, but rather have a closing tag (</target>). #### NEW QUESTION # 129

A developer has the task to create custom Lightning web components (LWCs). Which two steps must a developer take when creating custom LWCs?

- A. Authorize an org for an SFDX project.
- B. Clone a LWC
- C. Create an Apex class.
- D. Deploy a custom component.

Answer: A,D

Explanation:

To create custom Lightning web components (LWCs), a developer must take two steps: authorize an org for an SFDX project and deploy a custom component. Authorizing an org for an SFDX project allows the developer to connect to a Salesforce org, such as a scratch org, a sandbox, or a production org, and use it as a development environment. Deploying a custom component allows the developer to push the LWC code from the local project to the org and make it available for use. Creating an Apex class is not a required step for creating custom LWCs, as not all LWCs need to use Apex. Cloning an LWC is not a required step either, as it is an optional way to create a new LWC based on an existing one. #### NEW QUESTION # 130

Which of these is a key pattern leveraged when building Lightning Web Components? 39m 36s

- A. Juggling
- B. Composition
- C. Normalization
- D. Inventory

Answer: B

Explanation:

Composition is a key pattern in building Lightning Web Components (LWCs). This approach involves creating small, reusable components that can be assembled to form more complex interfaces. This pattern promotes modularity, reusability, and maintainability in the development of web components, aligning with web standards and best practices.
