Microsoft Power Platform Functional Consultant Sample Questions (Q109-Q114):

NEW QUESTION # 109

You plan to use solution-aware components in your solution.

- A. The manually triggered instant flow in the solution can be only solution-aware
- B. You can add an outside custom connector to the solution
- C. You cannot run a solution-aware flow from Power Automate mobile app
- D. You can add an outside instant flow to the solution's canvas app

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

The solution is a file (container) that can include various components, like tables, fields, apps, site maps, flows, etc.

These components are extensions or/and modifications of the Dataverse database.

There are two types of Power Automate existing cloud flows you can add to the solution: the flow is already in the Dataverse and an outside Dataverse flow. You can also create new components inside of the solution. Here, the component will be solution-aware.

Option A is correct because if you want to add an outside Dataverse manually triggered instant cloud flow, the portal will not allow you to do it, and you will not see it on the flow list. But you can create a new instant flow from the solution using the New menu button (Number 1) and selecting an Instant flow menu item (Number 2). Your new flow will be solution-aware.

Option C is correct because Power Automate mobile app cannot run a solution-aware flow at this time.

Option B is incorrect because you cannot add an outside instant flow to the solution's canvas app. You need to create a new solution-aware flow that the canvas app in your solution will use.

Option D is incorrect because using a custom connector in your solution requires creating it within the solution instead of bringing it from outside, which Power Platform will not allow.
