Cisco DevNet Associate Exam Sample Questions (Q193-Q198):

NEW QUESTION # 193

Which advantage does the agile process offer compared to waterfall software development?

- A. to fix any issues at the end of the development cycle
- B. to view the full scope of end-to-end work
- C. to have each phase end before the next begins
- D. to add or update features with incremental delivery

Answer: D

Explanation:

Agile uses smaller time increments or "sprints," that encompass the full process of analysis, design, code, and test but on a much smaller aspect of an application. The goal is to finish a feature or capability for each sprint, resulting in a potentially shippable incremental piece of software.

NEW QUESTION # 194

In the test-driven development model, what is changed after a test fails?

- A. code
- B. test
- C. project requirements
- D. schedule

Answer: A

Explanation:

In the test-driven development (TDD) model, after a test fails, the next step is to change the code to make the test pass. TDD involves writing a test for a new feature or functionality, running the test to see it fail, then writing the minimal amount of code necessary to pass the test, and finally refactoring the code to meet quality standards.
