NEW QUESTION # 79

What is the proper utilization of a System Integration Testing (SIT) environment?

- A. Used as an environment to perform system-to-system testing
- B. Used as a backup and archive of production configuration and data
- C. Used as a development environment to configure and build new applications

Answer: A

Explanation:

A System Integration Testing (SIT) environment is used as an environment to perform system-to-system testing. This means that the SIT environment is used to test the integration of different systems or components that are part of the Salesforce Manufacturing Cloud solution. The SIT environment allows the verification of the functionality, performance, and reliability of the integrated systems, as well as the identification and resolution of any defects or issues that may arise during the integration process. The SIT environment is typically a replica of the production environment, but with a smaller data set and lower security requirements.

The SIT environment is also used to validate the data migration and synchronization between the source and target systems, as well as the compatibility and interoperability of the APIs and web services that are used for the integration. References:

NEW QUESTION # 81

Universal Containers (UC) uses an Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) system for order and inventory management. UC would like to give its sales teams the ability to view the order information related to an account without replicating the order information. Which object type should a consultant use to access account order information?

- A. An external object
- B. A custom object
- C. A standard Order object

Answer: A

Explanation:

A consultant should use an external object to access account order information from an ERP system. An external object is similar to a custom object, but the record data is stored outside the Salesforce organization.

By using external objects, the consultant can access the order data in real time via web service callouts, without replicating the data in Salesforce. This way, the sales teams can view the current state of the order information related to an account, without wasting storage and resources keeping data in sync. A standard Order object or a custom object would require copying the order data from the ERP system to the Salesforce organization, which is not the desired solution for UC.
