NEW QUESTION # 89

In what mode do MHOs process traffic?

- A. MHOs process traffic in load sharing mode
- B. MHOs process traffic in Active-Active mode
- C. MHOs process traffic in VSLS mode
- D. MHOs process traffic in Active-Standby mode

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

MHOs process traffic in Active-Active mode, which means that both MHOs are active and share the load of the traffic that is sent to and from the SGMs. Active-Active mode provides better performance and scalability than Active-Standby mode, which only uses one MHO at a time and keeps the other as a backup.

Active-Active mode also allows for faster failover and recovery in case of an MHO failure, as the surviving MHO can take over the traffic without interruption.

- A. The first MHO configured is considered the SMO Master.
- B. The MDS that pushes policy to the SMO is considered the SMO Master.
- C. The SGM with the highest member ID (the last one added to the security group.)
- D. The SGM with the lowest member ID (the first one added to the security group.)

Answer: D

- A. Two of each.
- B. One each.
- C. Neither are required.
- D. Only one of the two interfaces is needed for the Security Group.

Answer: B

Explanation:

A Security Group (SG) requires at least one management port and one uplink port to function properly. The management port is used to connect the SG to the Maestro Hyperscale Orchestrator (MHO) and the customer's management infrastructure, such as SmartConsole or SmartDomain Manager. The uplink port is used to connect the SG to the customer's network infrastructure, such as switches, routers, or firewalls. The uplink port is also used to send and receive traffic from the customer's network to the SG.

- C. The MHO handles the IKE before distributing the traffic to a SGM to handle all encrypted traffic. This helps to prevent any issues with the correction layer.
- D. The MHO distributes copies of the packets to two different SGMs because SGM 1 will handle the clear traffic IKE exchange packets, while SGM2 handles encrypted packets.

Answer: C

Explanation:
