IIA Essentials of Internal Auditing Sample Questions (Q391-Q396):

NEW QUESTION # 391
Which of the following is a strategic risk that internal auditors should consider when performing a third-party risk management engagement?

- A. Loss of intellectual property
- B. Cost overruns
- C. Physical security
- D. Conflict of interest

Answer: A

Explanation:
Loss of intellectual property is a significant strategic risk that internal auditors should consider when performing a third-party risk management engagement. This risk can have substantial implications for the organization's competitive advantage, reputation, and financial performance. Ensuring that third parties have adequate controls to protect intellectual property is essential for mitigating this risk. Internal auditors should evaluate the effectiveness of these controls and the potential impact of intellectual property loss on the organization's strategic objectives.
The IIA Standards: Standard 2120 - Risk Management: "The internal audit activity must evaluate the effectiveness and contribute to the improvement of risk management processes." IIA Practice Guide: "Auditing Third-party Risk Management": Highlights the importance of assessing strategic risks, including intellectual property protection, in third-party relationships.
