What is the primary function of the on-premises VM in the EDM process?

- A. To automate the indexing process by creating hashes for structured data elements.
- B. To store sensitive data securely and prevent unauthorized data access.
- C. To replicate sensitive data across all organizational servers.
- D. To local analyze cloud transactions for potential PII exfiltration.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The on-premises VM in the Enterprise Data Management (EDM) process primarily locally analyzes cloud transactions for potential Personally Identifiable Information (PII) exfiltration. This allows organizations to detect and prevent sensitive data leaving their environment by inspecting cloud interactions close to their premises.

The study guide highlights that the VM acts as a local control point in the EDM workflow, ensuring sensitive data protection during cloud transactions.

- A. SCIM Group, Time of Day, Client Type, Country Code
- B. Username, Trusted Network Status, Password, Location
- C. Group Membership, ZIA Risk Score, Domain Joined, Certificate Trust
- D. Department, SNI, Branch Connector Group, Machine Group

Answer: C

Explanation:

Valid criteria for Access Policy Rules in ZPA include Group Membership, ZIA Risk Score, Domain Joined, and Certificate Trust. These attributes allow granular policy decisions based on user identity, device posture, and risk context.

Options including password are invalid as passwords are not used as policy criteria; similarly, SNI and Branch Connector Group are more relevant to other controls. The study guide lists these user and device attributes explicitly as policy criteria within ZPA access policies.
