NEW QUESTION # 128

Universal Containers (UC) wants to prevent its customer 's assistant records from being visible to the sales users of another business group in Salesforce UI. How can UC accomplish this?

- A. Use Process Builder
- B. Use Apex Trigger
- C. Use Dynamic Form
- D. Use Lightning Flow

Answer: D

Explanation:

Lightning Flows can be configured to selectively display, assign, or restrict access to records based on conditions such as user role, profile, or custom metadata. In combination with Flow and record-level access logic (e.g., ownership, sharing settings), the system can enforce visibility rules.

D). Correct - Flows can enforce business logic to hide or prevent access based on context, especially when tied with conditions about the user or record type.

Incorrect Options:

A). Process Builder does not manage UI visibility.

B). Apex Triggers execute at the database level, not in the UI.

C). Dynamic Forms are used to conditionally show/hide fields, not entire records.

Reference Extracts from Salesforce Process Automation Study Guide:

"Flows can be used to enforce access control by checking user roles or profiles before displaying or updating records."

"Combine Flow logic with conditional checks to enforce business rules for different user groups."
