The Project Management Professional (PMP) exam is a globally recognized certification that is designed to assess an individual's ability and knowledge in project management. PMP - Project Management Professional (2026) certification is awarded by the Project Management Institute (PMI), a non-profit organization that promotes the project management profession worldwide. The PMP certification exam is set to be updated in 2022, and this article will provide an introduction to the updated version of the exam.

The PMP certification exam is designed to test a project manager's knowledge and skills in various areas of project management, such as project planning, execution, monitoring and controlling, and closing. It also covers topics related to project integration, scope, time, cost, quality, human resources, communication, risk management, and procurement. PMP exam consists of 180 multiple-choice questions that need to be answered in four hours. To be eligible to take the exam, candidates must have a minimum of three years of project management experience, along with 35 hours of project management education or training.

Important Info: Target Audience and Requirements

To get the PMI PMP certification, you need to pass one exam that is designed for the professionals involved in project management. These individuals are the seasoned project managers who are usually responsible for all the aspects of project delivery, directing, and leading cross-functional teams.

There are certain formal prerequisites that one needs to meet to earn this certification. First of all, you should possess a high school diploma, Associate's degree, or a global equivalent. In addition, you must have 5 or more years of unique and non-overlapping experience managing projects and attend project management training for 35 hours. Alternatively, the individuals need to have a Bachelor's degree or a global equivalent as well as 3 years or more of unique and non-overlapping experience actively involved in professional project management. Additionally, the applicants must possess at least 35 hours or more of project management education. The third option implies that the candidates have a Bachelor's degree or a Master's degree or its global equivalent. Also, they should have two or more years of experience managing projects as well as attend project management training for 35 hours.

To pass the PMI PMP Exam, the students should demonstrate their knowledge and skills in defining the high-level space of the project depending on the business requirements; presenting the project plan to the main stakeholders for approval; achieving the project deliverables within a specified schedule and budget; communicating the status of the project to the key stakeholders; working with the customers and sponsors to obtain the final project deliverables.
