NEW QUESTION # 62

You are a Test Analyst in the banking domain. You have received the following requirement: "The system shall allow cash advances of at least 200 Euros for all supported credit cards. The following credit cards are supported: American Express, Diners, Visa, Mastercard and Eurocard.
Which one of the findings described below is true regarding this requirement?

- B. The requirement indicates potential usability problems
- C. The requirement indicates potential performance problems.
- D. The requirement is unclear in terms of advance limits.

Answer: D

Explanation:
The finding that is true regarding this requirement is that it is unclear in terms of advance limits. The requirement states that the system shall allow cash advances of at least 200 Euros, but it does not specify what is the maximum amount or if there are any other restrictions or conditions for the cash advances. This makes the requirement ambiguous and incomplete, as it does not provide enough information for testing or implementation. ## NEW QUESTION # 63

A web-based system is being developed to support the administration of tennis tournaments. Testing schedules are severely challenged.
Which specification-based technique would be the BEST choice in the circumstances?
SELECT ONE OPTION

- A. Use Case testing
- B. State Transition testing
- C. Pairwise testing
- D. Equivalence partitioning

Answer: C

Explanation:
Comprehensive and Detailed in Depth Explanation:
* The situation involves combinations of multiple factors (attendance fund, ranking, locality, sponsorship, and history), which can result in combinatorial explosion if tested exhaustively.
* Pairwise testing is the best choice here because it efficiently covers combinations by focusing on pairwise interactions rather than testing all possible combinations, making it suitable when time is limited.
* State Transition testing (A) focuses on states and transitions, which is not the primary concern here.
* Equivalence partitioning (C) would reduce the number of tests but does not cover combinations efficiently.
* Use Case testing (D) is more focused on user interactions rather than combinations of input factors.
Therefore, the correct answer is B (Pairwise testing).
