Snowflake SnowPro Advanced: Data Analyst Certification Exam Sample Questions (Q116-Q121):

NEW QUESTION # 116
When maintaining reports and dashboards, why is it essential to configure subscriptions and updates?

- A. Configuring these features hampers dashboard usability.
- B. Subscriptions and updates ensure timely information delivery.
- C. They limit data accessibility for effective dashboard usage.
- D. They complicate dashboard management without any added benefits.

Answer: B

Explanation:
Subscriptions and updates ensure timely information delivery, a crucial aspect of maintaining reports and dashboards.

NEW QUESTION # 117
You are working with a table named 'PRODUCT DESCRIPTIONS that contains product descriptions in a 'description' (VARCHAR) column. You need to implement a solution to identify potentially sensitive information within these descriptions, specifically looking for mentions of credit card numbers or social security numbers (SSNs). You want to flag any description that contains either of these patterns. Which of the following Snowflake SQL snippets, leveraging scalar string functions and regular expressions, provides the most efficient and accurate way to achieve this? (Assume that valid credit card numbers are 16 digits and valid SSNs are in the format 'XXX-XX-XXXX'). Select all correct options.

- A. Option B
- B. Option C
- C. Option A
- D. Option D
- E. Option E

Answer: B,C

Explanation:
Options A and C are both correct. Option A uses 'REGEXP_LIKE with two separate regular expressions to search for a 16-digit number (credit card) and a 'XXX-XX-XXXX' pattern (SSN). Option C uses a single 'REGEXP LIKE' function with an alternation to combine both patterns into one regular expression , which is generally more efficient. Option B relies on 'CONTAINS' which performs a simple substring search, not regular expression matching; this will not accurately identify the patterns. Option D uses 'STARTS WITH' which will only identify descriptions that begin with the specified keywords, missing most cases. Option E uses 'LIKE operator for the mentioned words in the sentence that can be 'Credit Card' or 'Social Security Number', but this isn't a search for Credit card numbers or SSNs.

NEW QUESTION # 118
When selecting and implementing an effective data model, what considerations are crucial for ensuring its suitability for BI requirements? (Select all that apply)

- A. Performance and ease of maintenance
- B. Conformity to specific database standards only
- C. Scalability and flexibility
- D. Extensive data denormalization

Answer: A,C

Explanation:
Effective data models should ensure scalability, flexibility, good performance, and ease of maintenance to meet BI requirements effectively.

NEW QUESTION # 119
In Snowflake, how does the implementation of primary keys for tables contribute to data integrity?

- A. Only works on specific data types
- B. Requires data redundancy
- C. Enforces uniqueness in table rows
- D. Limits data access for users

Answer: C

Explanation:
Primary keys enforce uniqueness in table rows, ensuring data integrity by preventing duplicate entries within a table.

NEW QUESTION # 120
You are performing an UPDATE operation on a large table 'CUSTOMER ORDERS with millions of rows. The update logic involves complex calculations based on data from another table 'PRODUCT PRICES. To minimize the impact on concurrent queries and ensure data consistency, which of the following strategies should you implement?

- A. Use a MERGE statement to update the 'CUSTOMER ORDERS' table based on the data from the 'PRODUCT PRICES' table.
- B. Create a temporary table with the updated values, drop the original table, and rename the temporary table to the original table name.
- C. Break the UPDATE operation into smaller batches using a WHERE clause with a limiting condition based on a primary key or date range and commit changes after each batch.
- D. Create a new version of table with updated data and switch to new version.
- E. Execute the UPDATE statement directly without any special considerations, relying on Snowflake's default concurrency control.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:
Breaking the UPDATE into smaller batches minimizes lock contention and reduces the duration of the update transaction, thereby reducing the impact on concurrent queries. A MERGE statement is an efficient way to perform updates based on data from another table, optimizing the process compared to a simple UPDATE statement. Option A is not recommended for large tables due to potential lock contention. Option C is disruptive and might cause issues if concurrent queries are running against the table. Option E is not a standard approach.
