Salesforce B2B Commerce for Developers Accredited Professional Sample Questions (Q92-Q97):

NEW QUESTION # 92

A developer needs to create a scheduled job in another system to move data into the B2B Commerce org. How can the developer do this without additional third party tools?

- A. Install a minimal set of dev tools on a machine such as the Command Line Interface (CLI) and create appropriate scripts to import files containing the data
- B. Set up an SFTP server as a waystation, drop the files there using the off-platform job and schedule a job in-platform to process the file
- C. Create a job in the org (on-platform) to drop a file of existing data, Use the off-platform machine to generate a file and identify the details between the two, Push the changes to the org's "Import"
- D. Set up WebDAV with SFTP as a waystation, drop the files there using the off-platform job and schedule a job in-platform to process the file

Answer: B

Explanation:

Option B is the correct answer because it describes a way to create a scheduled job in another system to move data into the B2B Commerce org without additional third party tools. The developer can set up an SFTP server as a waystation, drop the files there using the off-platform job and schedule a job in-platform to process the file. This way, the developer can use the built-in integration capabilities of the B2B Commerce platform, such as the Windows Integration Service (WIS) or the Integration Job Definitions, to import the data from the SFTP server into the org. The other options are incorrect because they either require additional third party tools, such as WebDAV or CLI, or they do not create a scheduled job in another system, but rather in the same org. NEW QUESTION # 93

Northern Trail Outfitters (NTO) exports Order Summary data from its org. A developer launches Data Loader, selects Order Summary, clicks the Select All Fields button, and clicks Finish. Custom fields are defined in the Cart and Order Summary objects and successfully mapped from Cart to Order Summary during checkout. However, all three custom fields in the Order Summary are empty in the export file.

What is the most likely cause?

- A. The developer can export Order Summary records only by using Data Export Service
- B. The Cart to Order action does not support the mapping of custom fields.
- C. The developer does not have access to the fields.
- D. There was a misspelling in one of the custom fields.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The most likely cause of the custom fields in the Order Summary being empty in the export file is that the developer does not have access to the fields. To export data with Data Loader, the developer must have the View All Data permission and the appropriate field-level security settings for the fields they want to export. If the developer does not have access to the custom fields in the Order Summary object, they will not be able to export them. Option A is incorrect because a misspelling in one of the custom fields would not affect the export of the other two custom fields. Option B is incorrect because the Cart to Order action does support the mapping of custom fields from the Cart object to the Order Summary object. Option D is incorrect because the developer can export Order Summary records by using Data Loader or other solutions, not only by using Data Export Service. NEW QUESTION # 94

While in the process of gathering requirements from a customer about how they would like to set up their net new storefront checkout experience, a consultant learns that the customer needs the ability to add new shipping and billing addresses during checkout.

Which approach should a developer take to meet this requirement?

- A. Enable Buyer Managed Contact Point Addresses within Commerce Administration.
- B. Enable Buyer Managed Contact Point Addresses within the Shipping Address standard component in the Checkout subflow.
- C. Create a new shipping address checkout subflow that utilizes the Buyer Managed Contact Point Addresses component.
- D. Create a Lightning web component that enables this functionality and replaces the current shipping address screen within the Checkout subflow.

Answer: B

Explanation:

To enable the ability to add new shipping and billing addresses during checkout, a developer should enable Buyer Managed Contact Point Addresses within the Shipping Address standard component in the Checkout subflow. The Buyer Managed Contact Point Addresses is a feature that allows customers to add, edit, or delete their shipping and billing addresses during checkout. The developer can enable this feature by setting the `buyerManagedContactPointAddressesEnabled` attribute to true in the Shipping Address standard component in the Checkout subflow. The Shipping Address standard component is a component that displays and collects the shipping address information for the cart or order. The Checkout subflow is a subflow that defines the steps and components for the checkout process in the storefront. Creating a new shipping address checkout subflow that utilizes the Buyer Managed Contact Point Addresses component is not a valid way to enable this feature, as there is no such component as Buyer Managed Contact Point Addresses. Enabling Buyer Managed Contact Point Addresses within Commerce Administration is not a valid way either, as this feature is not configurable in Commerce Administration. Creating a Lightning web component that enables this functionality and replaces the current shipping address screen within the Checkout subflow is not a valid way either, as this is unnecessary and complicated when there is already a standard component that supports this feature. NEW QUESTION # 95

What does a developer need to do to modify the out-of-the-box checkout flow template?

- A. Clone, modify and rename to Checkout Flow
- B. Modify directly and save to activate
- C. Create each flow from scratch
- D. Clone, modify, activate and refer in Experience Builder

Answer: D

Explanation:

To modify the out-of-the-box checkout flow template in Salesforce B2B Commerce, a developer should clone the existing template, make the necessary modifications, activate the modified template, and then reference it in the Experience Builder. This approach ensures that the original template remains intact and provides a fallback option. Salesforce documentation on customizing the checkout flow in B2B Commerce emphasizes the importance of using the Experience Builder for such customizations, providing a visual interface to manage and reference different checkout flow templates.

NEW QUESTION # 96

Which component can be used in other Salesforce Experience templates outside of B2B Commerce?

- A. Results Layout
- B. Product Detail Data
- C. CMS Collection
- D. Quick Order

Answer: C

Explanation:

In Salesforce Experience Cloud, components like CMS Collection and Results Layout are designed to be reusable across different Experience templates, not just limited to B2B Commerce. CMS Collection allows for the display of CMS content in a flexible and dynamic layout, while Results Layout can be used to present search or query results in a customizable format. Salesforce documentation on Experience Cloud components emphasizes the reusability and adaptability of these components across various templates and contexts.
