EC-COUNCIL Computer Hacking Forensic Investigator (CHFI-v11) Sample Questions (Q113-Q118):

NEW QUESTION # 113

John, a forensic examiner, has been tasked with analyzing an evidence image file acquired from a suspect machine. While conducting his investigation, he discovered a file that appeared to be suspicious.

He opened the file in a Hex Editor and found the hex value of the file starting with "89 50 4E". Based on his analysis, which file type does this hex value correspond to?

- A. PNG
- B. BMP
- C. JPEG
- D. PDF

Answer: A

Explanation:

This question aligns with CHFI v11 objectives under Operating System Forensics and File Type and Encoding Analysis. In digital forensics, file signature analysis—also known as magic number analysis—is a critical technique used to identify the true file type regardless of its extension. Attackers often rename or disguise files to evade detection, making hex-level inspection essential during forensic examinations.

Each file format begins with a unique hexadecimal header that identifies its structure. The hex value "89 50 4E 47" corresponds to the ASCII representation of "%PNG", which is the standard file signature for Portable Network Graphics (PNG) files. CHFI v11 specifically emphasizes the use of hex editors to analyze file headers and detect file extension mismatches during investigations.

The other options have different signatures: PDF files start with 25 50 44 46 ("%PDF"), JPEG files typically begin with FF D8 FF, and BMP files start with 42 4D (BM). Since the observed hex value matches the PNG signature, the correct identification is PNG. This technique is vital for uncovering hidden or obfuscated evidence and ensuring accurate file classification in forensic investigations.

NEW QUESTION # 114

Attackers can manipulate variables that reference files with "dot-dot-slash (./)" sequences and their variations such as <http://www.juggyDoy.com/GET/process.php//./././././etc/passwd>.

Identify the attack referred.

- A. File injection
- B. XSS attack
- C. SQL Injection
- D. Directory traversal

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 115

You are working in the security Department of law firm. One of the attorneys asks you about the topic of sending fake email because he has a client who has been charged with doing just that.

His client alleges that he is innocent and that there is no way for a fake email to actually be sent.

You inform the attorney that his client is mistaken and that fake email is possible and that you can prove it. You return to your desk and craft a fake email to the attorney that appears to come from his boss. What port do you send the email to on the company SMTP server?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

NEW QUESTION # 116

Email archiving is a systematic approach to save and protect the data contained in emails so that it can be accessed fast at a later date. There are two main archive types, namely Local Archive and Server Storage Archive. Which of the following statements is correct while dealing with local archives?

- A. Local archives should be stored together with the server storage archives in order to be admissible in a court of law
- B. Server storage archives are the server information and settings stored on a local system whereas the local archives are the local email client information stored on the mail server
- C. It is difficult to deal with the webmail as there is no offline archive in most cases. So consult your counsel on the case as to the best way to approach and gain access to the required data on servers
- D. Local archives do not have evidentiary value as the email client may alter the message data

Answer: C
