VMware vDefend Security for VCF 5.x Administrator Sample Questions (Q34-Q39):

NEW QUESTION # 34

Which of the following API call actions are associated with Update in the CRUD operations? (Select all that apply)

- A. DELETE
- B. PUT
- C. GET
- D. POST
- E. PATCH

Answer: B,E

Explanation:

When automating VMware vDefend (NSX) using REST APIs, actions are mapped to standard CRUD (Create, Read, Update, Delete) operations using HTTP verbs. When an administrator needs to Update an existing security policy, object, or group, they must use either PUT or PATCH.

PUT: This is a "replace" operation. When you send a PUT request to a specific object's URI, you must include the entire configuration payload for that object. It overwrites the existing configuration completely.

PATCH: This is a "partial modify" operation. If you only want to change a single parameter (like changing a firewall rule action from "ALLOW" to "DROP") without re-sending the entire rule configuration, you use PATCH.

(Note: POST is strictly for Create, GET is for Read, and DELETE is for Delete).

NEW QUESTION # 35

Distributed IDS cannot be implemented on which of the following?

- A. NSX backed Overlay Segment
- B. NSX backed VLAN segment
- C. Distributed portgroup
- D. Standard switch portgroup

Answer: D

Explanation:

VMware vDefend Distributed IDS/IPS performs deep packet inspection right at the virtual machine's network interface card (vNIC). To intercept this traffic at the hypervisor kernel level, it requires the advanced networking hooks and abstraction provided by modern virtual switches.

It fully supports workloads connected to modern NSX Overlay Segments, NSX VLAN Segments, and traditional vSphere Distributed Switches (vDS). However, legacy vSphere Standard Switches (vSS) lack the centralized management plane, distributed architecture, and necessary kernel APIs required to enforce NSX-based distributed security features. Therefore, you cannot implement Distributed IDS on a standard switch portgroup.

NEW QUESTION # 36

Which core architectural feature enables the vDefend Distributed Firewall (DFW) to apply security policies directly at the hypervisor level?

Response:

- A. NSX Intelligence Engine
- B. Kernel-based packet filtering
- C. Edge Service Gateway
- D. Distributed Services Engine

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 37

What happens if two firewall rules apply to the same traffic flow within a single section?

Response:

- A. The topmost rule in the section is applied first
- B. Both rules are ignored, and traffic is dropped
- C. The more permissive rule overrides the restrictive one
- D. The rule with the longer name takes precedence

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 38

What is the difference between IDS and IPS modes in NSX?

Response:

- A. IDS encrypts network packets; IPS decrypts them
- B. IDS requires licensing; IPS does not
- C. IDS supports only physical NIC traffic; IPS supports VM traffic
- D. IDS only logs alerts; IPS actively blocks detected threats

Answer: D
