Snowflake SnowPro Advanced Administrator ADA-C02 Sample Questions (Q23-Q28):

NEW QUESTION # 23

What information is required from the Identity Provider (IdP) to enable federated authentication in Snowflake? (Choose two.)

- A. IdP encryption key
- B. IdP account details
- C. SAML response format
- D. URL endpoint for SAML requests
- E. Authentication certificate

Answer: D,E

Explanation:

Federated authentication in Snowflake using SAML requires the Identity Provider's SAML endpoint URL so Snowflake can send authentication requests to the IdP during the login process.

Snowflake also requires the IdP's signing certificate to validate the authenticity and integrity of the SAML assertions returned by the Identity Provider during authentication.

NEW QUESTION # 24

What are the requirements when creating a new account within an organization in Snowflake? (Choose two.)

- A. The account name is immutable and cannot be changed.
- B. The account name must be unique within the organization.
- C. The account name must be unique among all Snowflake customers.
- D. The account requires at least one ORGADMIN role within one of the organization's accounts.
- E. The account name must be specified when the account is created.

Answer: B,E

Explanation:

When creating a new account within a Snowflake organization, the account name must be specified at creation and it must be unique within the organization. It does not need to be unique across all Snowflake customers, only within that specific organization.

NEW QUESTION # 25

What is a characteristic of Snowflake's transaction locking and concurrency modeling?

- A. If two queries are concurrently executed against the same table, one of the two queries will be blocked until the other query completes.
- B. A deadlock cannot occur in Snowflake, since concurrently executed queries and DML statements do not block one another.
- C. Queries executed within a given transaction see that transaction's uncommitted changes.
- D. Transaction locking in Snowflake is enforced exclusively at the row and table levels.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Snowflake uses multi-version concurrency control (MVCC), which allows queries and DML statements to operate without blocking each other. This architecture eliminates the possibility of deadlocks because transactions work on snapshots of data rather than locking rows or tables in ways that could cause contention.

NEW QUESTION # 26

A team of developers created a new schema for a new project. The developers are assigned the role DEV_TEAM which was set up using the following statements:

```
USE ROLE SECURITYADMIN;
CREATE ROLE DEV_TEAM;
GRANT USAGE, CREATE SCHEMA ON DATABASE DEV_DB01 TO ROLE DEV_TEAM;
GRANT USAGE ON WAREHOUSE DEV_WH TO ROLE DEV_TEAM;
```

Each team member's access is set up using the following statements:

```
USE ROLE SECURITYADMIN;
CREATE ROLE JDOE_PROFILE;
CREATE USER JDOE LOGIN_NAME = 'JDOE' DEFAULT ROLE='JDOE_PROFILE';
GRANT ROLE JDOE_PROFILE TO USER JDOE;
GRANT ROLE DEV_TEAM TO ROLE JDOE_PROFILE;
```

New tables created by any of the developers are not accessible by the team as a whole.

How can an Administrator address this problem?

- A. Assign usage privilege on the virtual warehouse DEV_WH to the role JDOE_PROFILE.
- B. Set up the new schema as a managed-access schema.
- C. Set up future grants on the newly-created schemas.
- D. Assign ownership privilege to DEV_TEAM on the newly-created schema.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Future grants allow privileges to be automatically granted on objects created in the future within a schema. By configuring future grants on the schema, privileges such as SELECT can automatically be granted to the DEV_TEAM role whenever new tables are created. This ensures that all developers using the DEV_TEAM role can access newly created tables without requiring manual privilege grants after each table creation.

NEW QUESTION # 27

A retailer uses a TRANSACTIONS table (100M rows, 1.2 TB) that has been clustered by the STORE_ID column (varchar(50)). The vast majority of analyses on this table are grouped by STORE_ID to look at store performance.

There are 1000 stores operated by the retailer but most sales come from only 20 stores. The Administrator notes that most queries are currently experiencing poor pruning, with large amounts of bytes processed by even simple queries.

Why is this occurring?

- A. The cardinality of the stores to transaction count ratio is too low to use the STORE_ID as a clustering key.
- B. Sales across stores are not uniformly distributed.
- C. The table is not big enough to take advantage of the clustering key.
- D. The STORE_ID should be numeric.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Clustering is effective when data distribution across the clustering key is relatively uniform. In this case, most transactions are concentrated in only 20 of the 1000 stores, leading to skewed data distribution. This imbalance causes poor pruning, since large portions of micro-partitions still need to be scanned, even for queries targeting specific stores.
