NCLEX National Council Licensure Examination(NCLEX-RN) Sample Questions (Q342-Q347):

NEW QUESTION # 342

A client is experiencing muscle weakness and lethargy. His serum K+ is 3.2. What other symptoms might he exhibit?

- A. Dysrhythmias
- B. Headache
- C. Tetany
- D. Numbness of extremities

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

(A) Tetany is seen with low calcium. (B) Low potassium causes dysrhythmias because potassium is responsible for cardiac muscle activity. (C) Numbness of extremities is seen with high potassium. (D) Headache is not associated with potassium excess or deficiency.

NEW QUESTION # 343

A mother brings her 3-year-old child who is unconscious but breathing to the ER with an apparent drug overdose. The mother found an empty bottle of aspirin next to her child in the bathroom. Which nursing action is the most appropriate?

- A. Teach mother poison prevention techniques.
- B. Monitor muscular status.
- C. Put in a nasogastric tube and lavage the child's stomach.
- D. Place child on respiratory assistance.

Answer: C

Explanation:

Section: Questions Set B

Explanation:

(A) The immediate treatment for drug overdose is removal of the drug from the stomach by either forced emesis or gastric lavage. The child's unconscious state prohibits forced emesis. (B) Toxic amounts of salicylates directly affect the respiratory system, which could lead to respiratory failure. (C) The mother's anxiety is probably so high that preventive guidance will be ineffective. (D) Respiratory assistance is not needed if the child's respiratory function is unaltered.

NEW QUESTION # 344

A client has been admitted to the nursing unit with the diagnosis of severe anemia. She is slightly short of breath, has episodes of dizziness, and complains her heart sometimes feels like it will "beat out of her chest." The physician has ordered her to receive 2 U of packed red blood cells. The most important nursing action to be taken is:

- A. Having the consent form on the chart
- B. Administering the correct blood product to the correct client

- C. Transfusing the blood in a 2-hour time frame
- D. Starting an 18-gauge IV infusion

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

(A) An 18-gauge IV is an appropriate size for administering blood; however, client safety demands that the right blood product must be administered. (B) The consent form is legally necessary to be on the chart, but client safety is maintained by giving the correct blood component to the correct client. (C) Administering the correct blood product to the correct client will maintain physiological safety and minimize transfusion reactions. (D) The blood administration should take place over the ordered time frame designated by the physician.

NEW QUESTION # 345

A male client is scheduled to have angiography of his left leg. The nurse needs to include which of the following when preparing the client for this procedure?

- A. Validate that he is not allergic to iodine or shellfish.
- B. Instruct him to start active range of motion of his left leg immediately following the procedure.
- C. Inform him that he will not be able to eat or drink anything for 4 hours after the procedure.
- D. Inform him that vital signs will be taken every hour for 4 hours after the procedure.

Answer: A

Explanation:

Section: Questions Set G

Explanation:

(A) Angiography, an invasive radiographic examination, involves the injection of a contrast solution (iodine) through a catheter that has been inserted into an artery. (B) The client is kept on complete bed rest for 6-12 hours after the procedure. The extremity in which the catheter was inserted must be immobilized and kept straight during this time. (C) The contrast dye, iodine, is nephrotoxic. The client must be instructed to drink a large quantity of fluids to assist the kidneys in excreting this contrast media. (D) The major complication of this procedure is hemorrhage. Vital signs are assessed every 15 minutes initially for signs of bleeding.

NEW QUESTION # 346

Clinical manifestations seen in left-sided rather than in right-sided heart failure are:

- A. Elevated central venous pressure and peripheral edema
- B. Dyspnea and jaundice
- C. Decreased peripheral perfusion and rales
- D. Hypotension and hepatomegaly

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

(A, B, C) Clinical manifestations of right-sided heart failure are weakness, peripheral edema, jugular venous distention, hepatomegaly, jaundice, and elevated central venous pressure. (D) Clinical manifestations of left-sided heart failure are left ventricular dysfunction, decreased cardiac output, hypotension, and the backward failure as a result of increased left atrium and pulmonary artery pressures, pulmonary edema, and rales.
