You're resetting several iPad devices for new users. The iPad devices don't progress past the Apple logo after restart. Which of these should you do?

- A. Send the Return to Service command from the MDM solution
- B. Use Apple Configurator for Mac to restore the iPad devices
- C. Use Apple Configurator for iPhone to restore the iPad devices
- D. Get a bypass code from the MDM administrator to clear Activation Lock

Answer: B

Explanation:

Apple Configurator for Mac resolves boot issues. The Apple Configurator User Guide states, "If an iPad is stuck on the Apple logo, connect it to a Mac running Apple Configurator to perform a full restore." Option A doesn't exist, and B and C don't address this issue directly.

NEW QUESTION # 15

How many enrollment profiles are supported for a managed Apple device?

- A. Two
- B. Three
- C. One
- D. Unlimited

Answer: C

Explanation:

A managed Apple device supports only one enrollment profile to ensure single authority management.

The Mobile Device Management Protocol Reference specifies, "A device can only be enrolled with one MDM enrollment profile at any given time. Applying a new enrollment profile requires removing the existing one." Options A, B, and C are incorrect due to this strict limitation.

What must you upload to MDM so that you can distribute App Store apps to your MDM-enrolled devices?

- A. Content token
- B. App token
- C. Distribution token
- D. Server token

Answer: A

Explanation:

A content token, downloaded from ABM or Apple School Manager (ASM), must be uploaded to the MDM server to enable Managed Distribution of App Store apps. The Apple Business Manager User Guide explains, "To distribute apps, download the content token from Apple Business Manager and upload it to your MDM solution. This token links your MDM server to your app licenses, enabling managed distribution." Options B and D are fictitious, and C is for device enrollment, not app distribution.

The Apple Platform Deployment Guide specifies macOS as the platform for Profile Manager.
