WGU Global Economics for Managers (C211, UZC2) Sample Questions (Q90-Q95):

NEW QUESTION # 90

Which characteristics are attributed to a democracy? (Choose THREE.)

- A. It prizes freedom of expression and organization.
- B. It concentrates power in a single ruling party.
- C. It prohibits private ownership.
- D. It extends the right to organize economically to domestic and foreign firms.
- E. It contains political risk that is lower than in other political systems.

Answer: A,D,E

Explanation:

In Global Economics for Managers, democracies are characterized by civil liberties, economic freedoms, and relatively lower political risk, making options A, C, and D correct.

Democracies protect freedom of expression and organization, allow domestic and foreign firms to operate, and provide stable institutional environments with predictable rules.

Options B and E describe authoritarian systems, not democracies.

Thus, A, C, and D correctly describe democratic systems.

NEW QUESTION # 91

What is one of the three primary types of foreign exchange transactions?

- A. Hedging transactions
- B. Forward transactions
- C. Arbitrage transactions
- D. Spot transactions

Answer: D

Explanation:

In Global Economics for Managers, spot transactions are one of the three primary types of foreign exchange transactions, making option B correct. Spot transactions involve the immediate exchange of currencies, typically settled within two business days.

The three main foreign exchange transactions are:

Spot transactions

Forward transactions

Swap transactions

Spot transactions form the foundation of currency trading and are widely used for international trade payments and short-term currency needs.

Options C and D describe strategies rather than transaction types.

Thus, option B is correct.

NEW QUESTION # 92

Which statement is a description of theocratic law?

- A. It is a legal system that is the oldest, most influential, and most widely distributed in the world.
- B. It is a legal system based on religious teachings and dogma.
- C. It is a legal system that is shaped by precedents and traditions from previous judicial decisions.
- D. It is a legal system that uses comprehensive statutes and codes as a primary means to form legal judgments.

Answer: B

Explanation:

In Global Economics for Managers, theocratic law is defined as a legal system based on religious teachings and dogma, making option A the correct answer. In this system, religious authorities interpret and enforce laws derived from sacred texts, and there is little separation between religion and the state.

Theocratic legal systems are typically found in countries where religion plays a central role in governance.

Laws governing personal behavior, business practices, family matters, and social conduct are often derived directly from religious doctrine. For managers, this means that compliance requires not only legal understanding but also sensitivity to religious norms and values.

Option B describes civil law, which is widely used around the world. Option C also refers to civil law, emphasizing codified statutes.

Option D describes common law, which relies on judicial precedents and case law.

Global Economics for Managers highlights that theocratic law can create unique challenges for multinational firms, particularly when religious principles conflict with international business norms or corporate policies.

Understanding the nature of the legal system is therefore essential for risk assessment and strategic planning.

Thus, option A accurately describes theocratic law.

NEW QUESTION # 93

What happens when the Federal Reserve increases the money supply?

- A. The aggregate demand curve shifts to the right
- B. The aggregate supply curve shifts to the right
- C. The aggregate demand curve shifts to the left
- D. The aggregate supply curve shifts to the left

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION # 94

Which quantity is calculated using the formula variable costs (VC) + fixed costs (FC)?

- A. Average variable cost (AVC)
- B. Implicit cost (IC)
- C. Explicit cost (EC)
- D. Total cost (TC)

Answer: D

Explanation:

In Global Economics for Managers, total cost (TC) is defined as the sum of fixed costs (FC) and variable costs (VC), making option C correct. The formula is:

$$TC = FC + VC$$

Fixed costs do not change with output in the short run, such as rent or license fees, while variable costs change with the level of production, such as labor or raw materials. Total cost captures the full economic cost of producing a given level of output.

Option A, implicit cost, refers to opportunity costs without direct monetary payment. Option B, explicit cost, includes direct monetary expenditures but does not represent the total cost formula. Option D, average variable cost, is calculated as VC divided by quantity produced.

Understanding total cost is essential for profit maximization and production decisions. Therefore, option C is correct.
