SAP Certified Associate - Configuring SAP Ariba Strategic Sourcing Suite Sample Questions (Q50-Q55):

NEW QUESTION # 50
You are performing a Brownfield migration for a customer with live transactions in their SAP Ariba Production environment. The customer plans to introduce new required fields for contract workspaces that are associated with flex master data templates and enumeration lists. Based on the correct Brownfield process, what is the correct sequence of activities to avoid system errors or user disruption?

- A. Deploy field change package in Production # Load translations # Load enumerations # Migrate flex master data templates and data
- B. Deploy field change package in Production # Migrate flex master data templates and data # Load enumerations # Load translations
- C. Load enumerations # Load translations # Deploy field change package in Production # Migrate flex master data templates and data
- D. Migrate flex master data templates and data # Load enumerations # Load translations # Deploy field change package in Production

Answer: D

Explanation:
For Brownfield deployments with live transactions, the correct sequence is to first migrate Flex Master Data templates and data, then load enumerations, followed by loading translations, and finally deploy the field change package. This sequence ensures that all master data dependencies are in place before deploying configurations that rely on them, preventing system errors and broken references. Deploying field changes before data and enumerations are ready can cause failures and disrupt user operations. SAP Ariba's documented migration best practices emphasize this order for successful Brownfield projects.
