Oracle Planning 2025 Implementation Professional Sample Questions (Q87-Q92):

NEW QUESTION # 87

With Machine Learning, which type of prediction would you define to predict using the same dimension, measure, and slice of data?

- A. Forecast Prediction
- B. Dimension Prediction
- C. Univariate Prediction
- D. Source Prediction

Answer: C

NEW QUESTION # 88

What feature can Service Administrators use to automatically complete all the actions required to create an exact copy of the current application in a target environment?

This includes the removal of the current application and data, if any, from the target environment.

- A. Clone Snapshot
- B. Replicate Snapshot
- C. Migration Export
- D. Migration Backup

Answer: A

Explanation:

In Oracle Planning 2024, Service Administrators can use the Clone Snapshot feature to create an exact copy of the current application in a target environment. This feature automates all actions required for cloning, including removing the existing application and data in the target environment (if any) and replacing it with a snapshot of the source environment. The process involves exporting a snapshot from the source, deleting the target environment's current application and data, and then importing and applying the snapshot to recreate the application identically.

* A. Replicate Snapshot: This is incorrect because "Replicate Snapshot" is not a defined feature in Oracle Planning. Replication typically implies duplicating data without necessarily overwriting the target, which doesn't align with the requirement of removing existing content.

* B. Migration Export: This is incorrect because Migration Export only exports application artifacts (e.g., metadata, data) to a file for manual transfer or backup, but it does not automate the removal of the target environment's content or the import process.

* C. Clone Snapshot: This is correct. The Clone Snapshot feature, available under the Environment management tools, fully automates the cloning process, including deletion of the target environment's application and data, followed by the recreation of the source application.

* D. Migration Backup: This is incorrect because Migration Backup creates a backup file for recovery purposes but does not involve cloning or overwriting a target environment.

The Oracle Planning 2024 documentation specifies that Clone Snapshot is designed for such end-to-end automation, making it the ideal choice for Service Administrators to replicate an application across environments efficiently.

NEW QUESTION # 89

You want to design a report with Reports for Oracle Enterprise Performance Management Cloud. You have an error on the report indicated by a red bar above the report header.

Which two statements describe possible causes of report object errors in Report Designer?

- A. The data source connection for the report is no longer valid.
- B. The size of the inserted graphic is too large.
- C. The report object overlaps with another report object.
- D. The report name is blank when you use a text function to display the name.

Answer: A,C

Explanation:

When designing a report in Reports for Oracle Enterprise Performance Management Cloud and encountering an error (indicated by a red bar above the report header), the issue often stems from report object configuration. The two possible causes are:

- * A. The report name is blank when you use a text function to display the name: Incorrect. A blank report name might cause display issues, but it's not a common cause of a report object error flagged by a red bar-errors typically relate to objects or data sources, not naming.
 - * B. The report object overlaps with another report object: Correct. Overlapping objects (e.g., grids, charts) can cause rendering or validation errors in Report Designer, triggering an error indicator like a red bar due to layout conflicts.
 - * C. The data source connection for the report is no longer valid: Correct. If the data source (e.g., a cube or grid definition) becomes invalid (e.g., deleted, renamed, or inaccessible), the report cannot retrieve data, resulting in an error marked by a red bar.
 - * D. The size of the inserted graphic is too large: Incorrect. While large graphics might affect performance or formatting, they do not typically cause a report object error flagged by a red bar-size issues are more likely to impact display than functionality.
- The Oracle documentation identifies B (object overlap) and C (invalid data source) as frequent causes of errors in Report Designer, making them the correct answers.

NEW QUESTION # 90

Which step does NOT need to be completed to manage the configuration of Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) in Planning Financials?

- A. Verifying enabled KPIs
- B. Adding KPIs to the hierarchy
- C. Reviewing KPIs in the hierarchy
- D. Adding KPIs to the alternate hierarchy
- E. Adding KPIs in Configure: Financials

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 91

Which task must be completed before EPM administrators import a Machine Learning model into Planning?

- A. EPM Administrators create a data model and push data to it to generate a PMML file.
- B. EPM Administrators create data maps and Groovy rules to move and process data.
- C. Data Scientists create Groovy rules designed to evaluate historical data and identify patterns.
- D. Data Scientists build and train the ML model in a data science tool and save it as a PMML file.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Before an EPM (Enterprise Performance Management) administrator can import a Machine Learning (ML) model into Oracle Planning, a prerequisite task must be completed by data scientists. According to Oracle's

"Bring Your Own ML" feature in the Planning application, the process begins with data scientists gathering historical data related to a business problem, training an ML algorithm, and generating a Predictive Model Markup Language (PMML) file using a third-party data science tool or Oracle Data Science Cloud. This PMML file represents a fully trained ML model that can then be imported into the Planning application by an EPM administrator.

Option A is correct because it aligns with this prerequisite step: the ML model must be pretrained and saved as a PMML file before the import process can begin. Option B is incorrect because Groovy rules are not created by data scientists to evaluate historical data; instead, these rules are automatically generated by the Planning application during the import process to integrate the ML model with the application. Option C is also incorrect, as EPM administrators do not generate PMML files by creating data models and pushing data- instead, they import an existing PMML file. Finally, Option D is incorrect because while EPM administrators may create data maps and Groovy rules as part of the deployment process, this occurs after the PMML file is imported, not before.

The Oracle Planning 2024 Implementation documentation emphasizes that the "Bring Your Own ML" functionality relies on importing a prebuilt PMML file, making the data scientists' role in building and training the model a mandatory first step.
