NEW QUESTION # 216

An engineer is using the low-impact mode for a phased deployment of Cisco ISE and is trying to connect to the network prior to authentication. Which access will be denied in this?

- A. EAP
- B. DNS
- C. HTTP
- D. DHCP

Answer: C

Explanation:

HTTP is the most reasonable answer. User that tried to connect needs to connect to DNS, DHCP and of course EAP.

NEW QUESTION # 217

An engineer is configuring a dedicated SSID for onboarding devices.

Which SSID type accomplishes this configuration?

- A. guest
- B. dual
- C. hidden
- D. broadcast

Answer: A

Explanation:

A guest SSID is a dedicated SSID that is used for guests and other unauthorized users. It is typically a separate SSID from the main corporate SSID and has limited access to the network.

This makes it a good choice for onboarding devices, as it allows the engineer to control the access that the devices have to the network.

The other options are incorrect. A dual SSID is a configuration where two SSIDs are broadcast on the same radio. This is not necessary for onboarding devices. A hidden SSID is an SSID that is not broadcast. This can be useful for security purposes, but it is not necessary for onboarding devices. A broadcast SSID is an SSID that is broadcast. This is the default setting for SSIDs and is not specific to onboarding devices.
