Cisco Automating and Programming Cisco Collaboration Solutions Sample Questions (Q66-Q71):

NEW QUESTION # 66

Which of the following three statements are correct regarding IPv6 QoS? (Choose three.)

- A. DS-TE is not supported by IPv6.
- B. Per-hop behavior in IPv6 networks is based on EXP bits.
- C. A 20-bit flow label field enables per-flow processing.
- D. The traffic class field in the IPv6 header can be used to set specific precedence or DSCP values.
- E. IPv6 QoS features are configured using the modular QoS CLI on Cisco routers.

Answer: C,D,E

Explanation:

http://www.cisco.com/en/US/technologies/tk648/tk872/technologies\_white\_paper0900aecd8026004d.pdf Cisco Systems. IPv6 QoS AT-A-GLANCE RFC 2460/3697 Currently IPv6 provides support for QoS marking via a field in the IPv6 header.

Similar to the type of service (ToS) field in the IPv4 header, the traffic class field (8 bits) is available for use by originating nodes and for forwarding routers to identify and distinguish between different classes or priorities of IPv6 packets.

The traffic class field may be used to set specific precedence or differentiated services code point (DSCP) values. These values are used in the exact same way as in IPv4

The key advantages with the flow label is that the transit routers do not have to open the inner packet to identify the flow, which aids with identification of the flow when using encryption and other scenarios.

Current Cisco IOS Software support for IPv6 QoS includes:

Packet classification

Queuing (includes LLQ; excludes legacy PQ/CQ)

Traffic shaping

WRED

IPv6 also has a 20-bit field known as the flow label field (RFC 3697). The flow label enables per flow processing for differentiation at the IP layer.

It can be used for special sender requests and is set by the source node.

The flow label must be modified by an intermediate node.

Planned Cisco IOS Software support for IPv6 QoS includes:

Compressed Real-Time Protocol (cRTP)

Network-based application recognition (NBAR)

Committed access rate (CAR)
