U+ Bank follows all engagement policy best practices to present credit card offers on their website. The bank has introduced a new credit card offer, the Rewards card. Anna, an existing customer, currently holds a higher value card, Premier Rewards, and does not see the new Rewards card offer.

What condition possibly prevents Anna from seeing the new Rewards card offer?

- A. Suitability
- B. Eligibility
- C. Applicability
- D. Suppression rules

Answer: D

Explanation:

Suppression rules are used to prevent customers from seeing offers that are not relevant or appropriate for them. For example, if a customer already has a higher value card, they should not see a lower value card offer. Therefore, suppression rules are the most likely condition that prevents Anna from seeing the new Rewards card offer. Verified Reference: [Pega Decisioning Consultant | Pega Academy]
