UiPath Automation Business Analyst Associate Exam (2023.10) Sample Questions (Q25-Q30):

NEW QUESTION # 25

Which stage of the Automation Implementation Methodology involves assessing automation candidates for business value and technical feasibility?

- A. Process Analysis
- B. Deployment and Hypercare
- C. Business Case and Technical Validation
- D. Kickoff

Answer: C

Explanation:

The Business Case and Technical Validation stage is crucial for evaluating whether an automation initiative is feasible and valuable. In this stage, selected automation candidates undergo rigorous assessment to determine if they are suitable for automation in terms of business impact and technical execution.

Key stakeholders involved include the business analyst, solution architect, and project manager. The business analyst evaluates the ROI and cost-benefit of automating the process. Simultaneously, the solution architect assesses the technical complexity, dependencies, and access requirements for implementation.

This dual validation ensures the process is worth automating and can be implemented within the current technical environment.

Processes that are highly complex, have low ROI, or involve systems that do not integrate well may be deprioritized or dropped.

Without this stage, organizations risk spending time and resources on automations that may not deliver sufficient value or may face technical hurdles, which is why it is a foundational step in the implementation methodology.

NEW QUESTION # 26

Which stage of the automation implementation should access requirements be clearly defined and communicated?

- A. Only in the Process Analysis stage
- B. Project Closure and UAT
- C. Only in the Deployment stage
- D. Solution Design, Business Case and Technical Validation, Kickoff

Answer: D

Explanation:

Access requirements should be clearly defined and communicated during the Kickoff, Business Case and Technical Validation, and Solution Design stages of the automation implementation. Each of these stages plays a unique role in ensuring that the correct technical access is available to avoid delays and roadblocks in development and testing.

* In the Kickoff stage, the Implementation and Client Teams initiate discussions around what environments and applications will be used and the potential access needed.

* During the Business Case and Technical Validation stage, the solution architect identifies the specific access requirements for applications, systems, and tools that the automation will interact with, as well as access to Studio and Orchestrator for developers and robots.

* In the Solution Design stage, access requirements are revisited in detail to finalize the technical design and ensure that developers and infrastructure teams have what they need to begin work.

Failure to define access early can lead to project delays, extended UAT timelines, or failed deployments.

Therefore, proactive communication and planning around access are essential components of successful automation delivery.

NEW QUESTION # 27

What is the primary focus of the "Business Case and Technical Validation" stage?

- A. Creating documentation for project closure
- B. Analyzing the As-Is process

- C. Building the automation and testing it
- D. Evaluating business value, complexity, and feasibility of automation

Answer: D

Explanation:

The Business Case and Technical Validation stage focuses on evaluating the business value, complexity, and feasibility of the proposed automation candidates. It is an essential checkpoint before any development begins, ensuring that the chosen processes are both valuable and technically viable.

In this stage, the Automation Business Analyst assesses the potential ROI, cost-benefit analysis, and strategic alignment with business goals. Meanwhile, the Solution Architect evaluates the technical feasibility, identifying access needs, integration points, and potential risks.

By assessing these factors upfront, this stage helps prioritize processes that offer the highest value and are achievable within the project's constraints. It also ensures stakeholder alignment on why a process is being automated and how it will deliver measurable benefits.

NEW QUESTION # 28

In which stage is the Future-State (To-Be) process designed?

- A. Solution Design
- B. Development and Testing
- C. Kickoff
- D. Business Case and Technical Validation

Answer: A

Explanation:

The Future-State (To-Be) process is designed during the Solution Design stage. This is where the Solution Architect, in collaboration with developers and other stakeholders, translates the current (As-Is) process into an optimized automated workflow.

Key tasks in this stage include:

- * Designing the To-Be process flow
- * Identifying reusable modules
- * Defining exception handling and data logic
- * Finalizing the infrastructure and integration approach

The Solution Design Document (SDD) produced in this stage serves as the detailed roadmap for development.

The design ensures that automation is technically sound, aligned with business goals, and ready for efficient development and deployment.

NEW QUESTION # 29

Which three roles from the Implementation Team participate in the Process Analysis stage?

- A. Project Manager, Developer, Client IT
- B. Business Analyst, Infrastructure Engineer, Project Manager
- C. Solution Architect, Project Manager, Business Analyst
- D. Automation Developer, Solution Architect, Client SME

Answer: C

Explanation:

During the Process Analysis stage, the following three key roles from the Implementation Team are involved:

- * Solution Architect
- * Project Manager
- * Business Analyst

Each role brings a unique perspective and responsibility to the analysis. The business analyst focuses on understanding the business goals and documenting the As-Is process. The solution architect evaluates the process from a technical standpoint to identify automation opportunities and potential roadblocks. The project manager oversees the planning and timelines to ensure alignment with the broader project goals.

This collaborative analysis results in a comprehensive and well-documented Process Definition Document (PDD), which becomes the foundation for the subsequent design and development phases. This stage is critical to ensuring that the correct processes are chosen for automation and that the team is aligned on the scope and expectations.
