NEW QUESTION # 305

Universal container manages internal projects by department using a custom object called projects. Only employees in the project's respective department should have view access to all of the department's project records. If an employee changes job roles and moves to another department, the employee should no longer have access to the projects within their former department. How can these requirements be met, assuming the organization-wide default for projects is set to private? Choose 2 answers

- A. Create a criteria based sharing rule using the projects department that grants access to users by public groups.
- B. Create a criteria based sharing rule using the projects department that grants access to users by profiles
- C. Create a criteria based sharing rule using the projects department that grants access to users by roles.
- D. Create a criteria based sharing rule using the projects department that grants access to users by permission set.

Answer: A,C

NEW QUESTION # 306

What are two capabilities of Schema Builder? Choose 2 answers

- A. Creating a new record type
- B. Viewing page layouts in a new window
- C. Editing custom settings
- D. Showing selected objects on a page

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

Explanation

Schema Builder is a tool that allows app builders to view and modify the data model of their Salesforce org.

Some of the capabilities of Schema Builder are:

Creating and editing custom objects and fields

Creating and editing relationships between objects

Showing selected objects on a page

Editing custom settings

Schema Builder cannot be used to create a new record type or view page layouts in a new window.

NEW QUESTION # 307

Which two options are available to an app builder when defining an object-specific Create Record custom action? (Choose two.)

- A. Redirecting the end user to the detail page of the target object.
- B. Pre-defining field values on the target object.
- C. Allowing the end user to choose the record type.
- D. Specifying the fields and layout of the action.

Answer: C,D

NEW QUESTION # 308

An app builder at Cloud Kicks has been working on changes to a custom Shoe Sales app in a sandbox and is ready to deploy their changes to production with a change set. Part of the work included updates to a permission set.

What should the app builder take into consideration when deploying the change set to production?

- A. The deployed permission set will merge with the existing permission set.
- B. The existing permission set will be completely overwritten.
- C. Change to field-level security in the permission set will not be applied.
- D. The deployed permission set will only contain changes related to the change set.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The deployed permission set will merge with the existing permission set in production, meaning changes made in the sandbox will be added to the existing permission set after deployment.

NEW QUESTION # 309

Cloud Kicks (CK) keeps track of its shoe inventory in Salesforce. When an order's status is changed to Activated, the inventory for the ordered shoe is reduced. At that point, a SOAP web service on the CK website must be called so that the website is updated to display the correct inventory amount for the shoe.

What should an app builder use to communicate to the CK web service when a shoe's inventory has changed?

- A. After-Save Record-Triggered flow
- B. Process Builder
- C. Before-Save Record-Triggered flow
- D. Workflow rule

Answer: A

Explanation:

To communicate to the CK web service when a shoe's inventory has changed, an app builder should use an after-save record-triggered flow. An after-save record-triggered flow is a type of flow that runs after a record is saved and can perform actions such as updating related records, sending emails, calling external services, etc. An after-save record-triggered flow can use an Apex action to invoke a SOAP web service using a WSDL file.
