Amazon AWS Certified Solutions Architect - Associate (SAA-C03) Sample Questions (Q524-Q529):

NEW QUESTION # 524

A company is deploying an application in three AWS Regions using an Application Load Balancer. Amazon Route 53 will be used to distribute traffic between these Regions. Which Route 53 configuration should a solutions architect use to provide the MOST high-performing experience?

- A. Create an A record with a geolocation policy.
- B. Create a CNAME record with a geoproximity policy.
- C. Create an A record with a latency policy.
- D. Create a CNAME record with a failover policy.

Answer: C

Explanation:

To provide the most high-performing experience for the users of the application, a solutions architect should use a latency routing policy for the Route 53 A record. This policy allows Route 53 to route traffic to the AWS Region that provides the lowest possible latency for the users<sup>1</sup>. A latency routing policy can also improve the availability of the application, as Route 53 can automatically route traffic to another Region if the primary Region becomes unavailable<sup>2</sup>.

Explanation:

To make sure that there is continuous availability between your on-premises data center and your Amazon Virtual Private Cloud (VPC), it is suggested that you configure two AWS Direct Connect connections. Your application should implement restart logic and connect to a mount target in a different AZ if your application is not highly available and your on-premises server cannot access the mount target because the AZ in which the mount target exists becomes unavailable.

NEW QUESTION # 526

A company wants to allow its Marketing team to perform SQL queries on customer records to identify market segments. The data is spread across hundreds of files. The records must be encrypted in transit and at rest. The Team Manager must have the ability to manage users and groups, but no team members should have access to services or resources not required for the SQL queries. Additionally, Administrators need to audit the queries made and receive notifications when a query violates rules defined by the Security team.

AWS Organizations has been used to create a new account and an AWS IAM user with administrator permissions for the Team Manager.

Which design meets these requirements?

Store customer records as files in Amazon S3 and train users to leverage the Amazon S3 Select feature and execute queries using the AWS CLI. Enable S3 object-level logging and analyze CloudTrail events to audit and alarm on queries against personal data.
- B. Apply a service control policy (SCP) that denies access to all services except IAM, Amazon DynamoDB, and AWS CloudTrail. Store customer records in DynamoDB and train users to execute queries using the AWS CLI. Enable DynamoDB streams to track the queries that are issued and use an AWS Lambda function for real-time monitoring and alerting.
- C. Apply a service control policy (SCP) that allows access to IAM, Amazon RDS, and AWS CloudTrail. Load customer records in Amazon RDS MySQL and train users to execute queries using the AWS CLI. Stream the query logs to Amazon CloudWatch Logs from the RDS database instance. Use a subscription filter with AWS Lambda functions to audit and alarm on queries against personal data.
- D. Apply a service control policy (SCP) that denies access to all services except IAM, Amazon Athena, Amazon S3, and AWS CloudTrail.
