Network Appliance NetApp Certified AI Expert Exam Sample Questions (Q34-Q39):

NEW QUESTION # 34

What is the primary difference between C-Series and A-Series storage for AI workloads?

- A. A-Series provides GPU-based acceleration, while C-Series only supports CPU-based workloads.
- B. C-Series supports both file and object-based storage, while A-Series is optimized for object storage.
- C. A-Series is for smaller-scale AI workloads, while C-Series supports large-scale, high-performance AI applications.
- D. C-Series is designed for high-performance workloads, while A-Series focuses on cost-efficiency for general storage.

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION # 35

An architect is designing a data pipeline for a predictive AI model that will forecast retail sales.

The pipeline must be robust, version-controlled, and efficient.

The proposed data flow is as follows:

1. Ingest: Raw sales data is copied daily from multiple point-of-sale (POS) systems to a central staging area on an on-premises

ONTAP cluster.

2. Prepare: The raw data is messy. A data engineering team needs a clean, isolated, and writable copy of the latest daily data to perform cleansing and feature engineering tasks without impacting the original raw data.

3. Train: Once prepared, the cleansed dataset is used to retrain the predictive model on a GPU cluster. This step must be repeatable with the exact same dataset for compliance.

4. Deploy: The newly trained model is pushed to production inference servers.

Which combination of NetApp technologies best supports this entire predictive AI lifecycle?

(Select all that apply.)

- A. Use NetApp StorageGRID as the primary storage for the high-performance training stage.
- B. Use NetApp Snapshots on the prepared dataset volume just before training to create an immutable, point-in-time version for compliance and reproducibility.
- C. Use BlueXP backup and recovery to perform the initial data ingest from the POS systems.
- D. Use NetApp FlexClone to create an instantaneous, space-efficient, writable copy of the daily raw data for the data preparation stage.
- E. Use NetApp XCP to efficiently aggregate the raw sales data from POS systems into the central staging area.
- F. Use a RAG architecture for the sales forecasting model.

Answer: B,D,E

NEW QUESTION # 36

What is the primary role of NetApp Trident in a Kubernetes environment designed for AI workloads?

- A. To directly accelerate GPU computations using specialized drivers.
- B. To act as a dynamic storage orchestrator, provisioning persistent storage from NetApp backends on-demand for containerized applications.
- C. To provide a web-based IDE, like Jupyter, for data scientists to develop models.
- D. To function as a container runtime interface for executing AI models.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION # 37

Which storage protocols are commonly used for handling large-scale AI data? (Choose two)

- A. Parallel file systems
- B. POSIX-based file systems
- C. Object-based storage
- D. File-based systems

Answer: A,C

NEW QUESTION # 38

A data science team works primarily at a central data center but needs to run a short-term, burst- compute training job in the public cloud to take advantage of specialized GPUs that are not available on- premises. They need to efficiently and securely move a 20 TB dataset from their on- premises ONTAP cluster to a Cloud Volumes ONTAP instance for the duration of the job.

The data flow requirement is as follows:

Source: On-premises ONTAP cluster

Destination: Cloud Volumes ONTAP in AWS

Requirement: Efficient, secure, block-level data transfer.

Which NetApp technology is the most appropriate tool for this task?

- A. NetApp FabricPool
- B. NetApp XCP
- C. NetApp FlexCache
- D. NetApp SnapMirror
